Ex-student wins lawsuit against Van Buren schools

What is being construed as a nation-wide landmark precedent-setting decision was handed down last week in favor of a former Belleville High School student who had sued local school district officials for invasion of privacy and libel.

A federal court jury in Detroit awarded a total of $1,600 in damages to Barry Henderson, 19, a 1977 BHS graduate now working in the Van Buren Township parks and recreation department as a program assistant.

Henderson's lawsuit is believed to be the first in U.S. history in which a student was successful in proving that his civil rights were violated by the actions of school officials.

The lawsuit is being viewed as setting a national precedent in regard to students' rights and the liability of school officials for disciplinary actions to and public comments about students.

Damages imposed by the jury against officials of the Van Buren Public Schools were: $1,100 levied against Carlos Florido, an administrator at BHS, for violating Henderson's civil rights, invading his privacy and libeling him; $300 against Dale Kaulitz, former Van Buren Public Schools superintendent, for invading the student's privacy; and $200 against James Sayre, a former school board member, for libeling Henderson.

Henderson also was awarded $100 for a one-day suspension meted out in his senior year. The jury found the action to be improper and a violation of his civil rights.

The former student was represented by Gabe Kaimowitz of the Michigan Legal Services, in addition to Diana Autin and Allen Kirtley of the Michigan Clinical Law Program in Ann Arbor. Presiding over the trial was Chief Federal Judge Cornelia G. Kennedy. Henderson's suit, which had asked

Convict loses fight

Romulus man slays abductor with own gun

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus man kidnapped by one of three escaped convicts from Ohio shot and killed his abductor Monday after he and his girlfriend wrestled a gun away from him.

Wayne County Sheriff's Det. Robert Pond said Harold Hatcher, 20, of Romulus shot John Conte, 44, an escaped murderer of a Columbus, Ohio Policemen, five times, killing him about 4 a.m. Monday near Findlay, Ohio.

Pond, who worked with Det. Ed Lindberg on the case, said his department first received a call about 2:11 a.m. Monday reporting that Hatcher had been abducted from near the Abbey Inn, 8230 Merriman Rd., just outside the Metro Airport complex.

Conte at gunpoint forced Hatcher and a friend, Victoria Wyzkowski, 21, into Hatcher's jeep and ordered them to drive him to Ohio, the officers said.

Near Findlay, a patrol car with lights flashing on the side of the road sent Conte into a frenzy, Hatcher told police. He accused Hatcher of "setting me up", although officers said the kidnapped man had no way of notifying police after he and his girlfriend were forced into his jeep.

Hatcher told officers that Conte ordered him to get off the nearest exit and drive down a side road, telling him, "We've got things to talk about."

When Hatcher stopped his jeep, he told police Conte pointed a handgun at him and cocked it. Hatcher said he grabbed the gun with both hands and yelled at his girlfriend to grab Conte. She got a stranglehold on Conte's neck.

In the ensuing struggle, Hatcher succeeded in wresting the gun away from Conte and fell out of the jeep with the gun in his hand. Conte then came at Hatcher, threatening to kill him, the abducted man told police.

When Conte ignored Hatcher's warnings to stop, Hatcher pumped five shots into the convict, killing him on the spot, Pond and Lindberg said.

When the two detectives put all of the pieces together, their investigation disclosed another kidnapping had been perpetrated by Conte and that two other escaped convicts were involved.

About 3 a.m. Saturday, Conte kidnapped Michael Cook, 30, of Springfield, Ohio, from a restaurant two miles north of Yellow Springs, Ohio, the detectives said. At gunpoint, Conte had Cook drive about a mile and stop to pick up two other men, they said.

Police believe the names of the other two convicts are Billie McKinney, 27, and David Pilkington, 34. All three convicts escaped from the Lucasville Prison in Marion County, Ohio, Pond explained.

Cook told police he and the three convicts traveled to Indiana where they hid out in barns along the way during daylight hours. About 10 a.m. Sunday, the four men checked into the Abbey Inn in Romulus.

The two detectives said Cook told them he and Conte roomed together and that he was forced to go shopping at the grocery store. About noon Sunday, the other two men took his car and he never saw them again, officers said.

Shortly after 2 a.m. Monday, Cook told police Conte ordered him to go it on the steps at Exit four. During the next few minutes, Conte abducted Hatcher and his girlfriend and Cook fled the scene.

Cook said that although his captors threatened him, they did not mistreat or beat him.

Local Watergate?

Lost tape surfaces; clerk denies charges

The controversy over the taped recording of the Aug. 31 Romulus City Council meeting is becoming more and more like the famous Watergate incident that forced President Richard M. Nixon to resign.

Last week Ed Rush, local florist who has sued the city and thus far has obtained an injunction to prohibit any secret council sessions, is charging that the official tape of the Aug. 31 meeting has disappeared. Rush said he was a close friend of the city clerk, Leonard J. Folmar, and that he had seen the tape. Rush said he was a close friend of the city clerk, Leonard J. Folmar, and that he had seen the tape. Rush said he was a close friend of the city clerk, Leonard J. Folmar, and that he had seen the tape.

Rush told the Roman Friday that he has a copy of a memorandum from Charles M. Lowther, city attorney, to the mayor and city council dated Nov. 14. The memo informs them, Rush said, that the city is taking legal steps to have one of Rush's three copies of the tape reproduced for the coming court trial on the Aug. 31 incident.

A copy of the memorandum furnished to the Roman by Rush disclosed that Lowther tried to copy what he thought was the official tape of the Aug. 31 meeting, but found nothing on it.

Also stated in the memorandum was that Rush supposedly was the only person who removed the tape from the office of Clerk Leonard J. Folmar for copying purposes. However, he was monitored by Deputy Clerk Linda Choate during the entire copying procedure, Lowther's memorandum stated.

The city attorney concluded the memorandum to mayor and council: "It is vitally important that we preserve an accurate recording of the entire session and with the occurrence of the unfortunate incident so shortly on the heels of the court's finding of probable closed meeting act violations, every word of that meeting will be subject to close scrutiny."

"Your assistance in assuring 100 percent accuracy is absolutely imperative if a favorable outcome is to be achieved and if additional costs punitive damages are to be avoided."

Rush, upon receipt of the memorandum and its contents, was furious.

"I am outraged at the incompetence of the city clerk. Who destroyed the tape, Folmar or (Helen) Gallien (city treasurer)? he asked.

"With the tape so important to the case and now destroyed, the clerk should resign," Rush said. He also suggested that possibly the tape was erased at Mayor William M. Oakley's request.

Rush said it was "unbelievable" to him that the tape was either taken or erased. "Is there a coverup?" he asked.

Informed of Rush's accusations, Folmar remarked, "Rush must be campaigning for mayor early. The tape is where it's always been - in my possession."

The clerk said he did not know what Rush was talking about and said the florist had not contacted him to inquire about the missing tape.

"He's contacted me many, many times before on matters, but this time he didn't bother," Folmar explained.

The clerk indicated that someone on council had to have leaked a copy of the city attorney's memorandum to Rush.

"I'm pretty sure I know who it is, but I can't prove it," he commented. He added that he could not imagine how someone on city council "could release such information without first checking with me to confirm that the tape was gone."

He said Rush would not have known of the city attorney's memorandum if "someone on council had not breached the confidential relationship that exists between lawyer and client."

"Mr. Lowther, out city attorney, is new around city hall and I know he is not familiar with the copying devices," Folmar said.

Oakley, contacted by the Roman Monday, said, "All I know about it is what the clerk told me. I was out of the city last week."

New contract for Garfield

James Garfield, superintendent of the Romulus Community Schools, has been awarded a new three-year contract as a starting salary of $39,000 per year.

Prior to the new pact, he had been paid $36,000 per year. The new contract covers the school years 1978-79, 1979-80 and 1980-81.

Although Garfield's contract does not call for any specified salary increases, the board of education may boost his annual pay at any time should they desire to do so.

Garfield first was pointed acting superintendent in May 1975 and was employed in that capacity until August of that same year when he was named full-time head of the Romulus school system.

Serving under Garfield are two assistants - Marvin Fischer, curriculum and instruction, and Tom Janack, maintenance and operations - and 21 other supervisory personnel, including principals, assistant principals, and supervisors.

Inkster city officials, utterly disgusted with the continual delays in the paving of Michigan Avenue, believe the cement pouring machinery may be in storage for the winter. For the umpteenth time, the resurfacing of the major lanes of the city's main highway has been delayed. "I'm tired of their misinformation and we don't plan to ever believe their 'bed-time stories again,' City Manager Wally Arrowsmith said about State Highway Department officials. ## Inkster calls state's paving promises a 'bedtime story'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Has John Carlo Construction Co. stored its paving machines for the winter?

That's what most Inkster City officials think after the latest in a long series of delays by the contractor responsible for paving Michigan Avenue.

"I'm not going to believe another word I hear from the State Highway Department or Carlo Construction Co.," said highly irate Wally Arrowsmith, interim city manager of Inkster.

"I've believed their 'bed-time stories' for the last time!"

Arrowsmith is not only disgusted — he's plain embarrassed by what he calls "the worst mismanagement of a major construction project I've seen in my 30 years of public service."

City officials say they have been given about 10 different dates that the paving was to actually begin along the 2.8 miles of Michigan Avenue through the city.

The latest in a long series of embarrassing delays came last week. Arrowsmith notified the Ledger-Star Nov. 8th, shortly before press deadline, that paving was to begin early Nov. 9th.

It was another in a long list of promises Arrowsmith said he was given by the State Highway Department, the agency responsible for the Michigan Ave. widening and paving project. John Carlo Co. is the contractor the state hired to do the paving.

Armed with the latest "promise", Arrowsmith notified the Ledger-Star and asked if the newspaper could notify people to avoid Michigan Avenue for the following 10 days because of the planned paving.

The notice was even put in other area weekly newspapers published by Associated Newspapers, Inc., publisher of the Ledger-Star. Arrowsmith, considered one of the top city managers in the state, wanted motorists — and especially police, fire and ambulance drivers — to avoid the traffic congestion expected when the major paving started on Michigan Avenue through Inkster.

Imagine his chagrin and embarrassment when he was told late Wednesday afternoon that everything they'd discussed with the state was called off concerning the paving.

John Wisniewski, project engineer for the State Highway Department, told me late last Wednesday afternoon that everything we'd discussed was off because Carlo said he had no promise of cement," Arrowsmith said this week.

There has been a shortage of cement and that has been used as the reason for the constant paving delays, Arrowsmith said.

Arrowsmith said he found out that Richard Gould, highway traffic engineer in the Southfield District (which includes Inkster), had not notified any of the news media or public safety officials that there would be a major traffic tie-up on Michigan Ave.

"It is Mr. Gould's job to notify news media and police, fire and emergency vehicle drivers when a major construction project will cause heavy traffic congestion," the Interim City Manager said.

"So I called him. He told me they had set up a 2 p.m. meeting with Medusa CEMENT Co. of Ohio to check on the supply of cement available for Carlo Co."

"He said the representative of Medusa didn't even show up at the meeting, so the project was called off and they didn't know when it would be scheduled to be started again," an angry Arrowsmith told the Ledger-Star.

The lawsuit which the City of Inkster has filed against the State Highway Dept. and Carlo Co. had been postponed last Wednesday morning.

"City Attorney Bernie Friedman called me from the court and I told him the paving was all set to start early Thursday morning, so the hearing was postponed," Arrowsmith said.

"I've listened to their 'bed-time stories' for the last time," said Arrowsmith, who added that he wouldn't be surprised to see the paving machines covered over and left idle through the winter.

Arrowsmith is so disgusted with the paving delays and broken promises that he hates to even talk about when Michigan Avenue might be paved.

Kitchens will be surveyed

The Dec. 7 Henry Ford Museum Antiques Lecture Series offering will examine the simple Victorian kitchens of ordinary folk and the grand halls of the very rich.

Dr. Kenneth Ames, an expert on Victoriana will recount how Victorian rooms and furnishings often were specialized in form and function in his lecture "Inside the Homes of the Rich, the Poor and the In-between in Victorian America."

Dr. Ames will discuss the all-purpose rooms of modest Victorian homes, where a kitchen might be used for dining, entertaining and sewing as well as cooking. He will also look at specialized rooms such as the drawing rooms and studies of the middle-class and the extremely specialized "red rooms," "oval rooms" and painting galleries of the wealthy.

The lecture will be at 8:30 a.m. in Henry Ford Museum Theater.

EDC for local area opens Taylor office

The Wayne County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) will soon open its doors to the public, according to County Commissioner Edgar L. Harris, whose district includes Romulus and Huron Township.

"The EDC Board of Directors has given its approval to locating the EDC office at the Downriver Federal Savings Building in Taylor, assuming a satisfactory lease arrangement," said Harris.

"Located at I-75 and Eureka Road, the EDC office will be readily accessible to both Detroit and the suburbs," Harris continued.

Harris, who proposed the EDC a year ago and guided its formation through committee deliberations and preliminary set-up procedures, said the office should be open in early December.

"Naturally, the office will not be fully staffed and completely operational until after the first of the year," the Commissioner said.

The EDC, authorized by the County Board of Commissioners last March, is an independent (non-government), non-profit organization designed to stimulate local industrial and commercial development. Under state law, it is empowered to sell revenue bonds to help finance industrial and commercial growth.

In September of this year the Wayne County EDC received a $129,000 Michigan Economic Development Incentive Concept (MEDIC) grant from the state to finance the first year staffing and start-up costs.

Under terms of the grant, the Wayne County EDC must supply 25 percent of the necessary matching funds ($43,000) during the first year; 50 percent of the matching funds the second year and 75 percent of the funds the third year. The grant expires at the end of the third year and the local EDC is expected to be financially self-sufficient at that time, Harris explained.

The EDC is governed by an 11-member board of directors composed of business and government representatives from throughout the county.

Could herald powerhouse teams

Sports intramural program is off to enthusiastic start

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

If Bill Hardy, athletic director of Romulus Community Schools, and his staff are correct in their thinking and successful in their implementation, Romulus could become a sports powerhouse in the next few years.

Also, many boy and girl students, who otherwise could be destined for failure in life from lack of self confidence and poise, may end up as well adjusted adults with a handful developing into great athletes.

What is the catalyst that will perform all of these wonders? It's the new intramural sports program now being conducted at the junior high level with the participation of students from Romulus North Jr. High, Edmonson Jr. High at Willow Run, and Ypsilanti East and Ypsilanti West Middle schools.

Hardy, in stressing that the new intramural program is a "team effort", explained that the key concept "is for students to participate voluntarily and to have fun".

Hardy commented, "We want every student to play. We will pull starters to accomplish that. It's not a question of winning or losing, but if we do win, we will do it in a sportsmanlike manner."

Began this fall for the first time, the intramural sports program during that season was devoted to boys flag football, girls basketball, boys wrestling and girls volleyball.

Hardy said winter activities will be taken up with boys basketball and in the spring with coed track and field, girls softball and boys baseball.

About 70 boys and girls at North Jr. High took part in the fall season, he said. Although some initial problems had to be overcome, the program is now "going great guns," he added.

"The enthusiasm of the teachers and the coaches at North Jr. High has been tremendous in following through on the sports program there," Hardy declared. I fully expect to see intramural sports explode in the new few years."

The athletic director said he was particularly pleased that girls were getting "exposed" to sports at an early age.

"Once exposed, their interest will grow. Many hopefully will turn to taking part in recreational sports when summer arrives," he said.

One of the biggest dividends of the intramural sports program, he noted, is that which will be given to the senior high school interscholastic sports program.

With intramural coaches stressing fundamentals, an "inbreeding" program hopefully will develop, he explained. Eventually, competent athletes will develop when they reach senior high school because of the training and instruction they received at the junior high level in the intramural program, he added. Hardy pointed to the excellent inbreeding sports program at River Rouge and how well it has paid off at the secondary level.

"When intramural athletes get to high school, coaches can concentrate on polishing them up on the fine points," he said.

The new intramural sports program is aimed at seventh and eighth grade boys and girls who ordinarily do not go out for interscholastic sports, especially the girls, Hardy asserted.

"As they progress in the intramural program, hopefully they will gain confidence in themselves and someday, possibly, will go on into the interscholastic sports program in senior high school," he said.

Explaining that "we want those kids", Hardy was quick to point out that they must be "coachable" and respond to the discipline expected in competitive sports.

"So far, we have gotten good parents participation, especially from those with girls in the program. We welcome parents of participating students to come watch them play," the athletic director urged.

Another dividend of the intramural sports program, he observed, will be the expectation of youngsters in elementary schools as they look forward to sports competition in junior high school.

Taking an active part in the overall intramural program is Duane Devlin, athletic director at Willow Run, and Tom McCallie, athletic director at Ypsilanti West Middle School.

Should Romulus' participation in the intramural sports program become the success that Hardy hopes it to be, more and greater teams in several sports will be the order of the day in Romulus Senior High School.

Area Boy Scout leaders were honored recently at the Huron District annual dinner held at the Romulus V.F.W. Hall.

Joseph Cusmano of Romulus received the coveted Silver Beaver Award from the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. The Silver Beaver is the highest award given to a volunteer by a local scout council in recognition of outstanding service to youth.

Cusmano, a veteran of 11 years as a scout volunteer, has served in many capacities, including Scoutmaster of Troop 735 of Cory School, Romulus, and currently as Huron District commissioner. Thousands of area boys have been influenced through scouting programs as a direct result of Cusmano's leadership. Cusmano is employed by Murphy Motors Freight Lines of Romulus.

Also recognized at the dinner were Harold Buck of Wayne; Janet McNeely, Taylor; James Sanders, Romulus; and Howard Bauer of Ypsilanti. All four received the District Award of Merit for volunteer service to youth in the area.

Raymond O'Neill, postmaster of Belleville, and Cusmano were reinstalled as district officers at the dinner.

Volunteers in Huron District support 78 Cub Scout Packs and Boy Scout Troops with programs at schools, churches and other organizations in Belleville, Van Buren Townships, Taylor, Woodhaven, Brownstown and New Boston.

Romulus, Van Buren to merge

Area vocational center to aid state funding

Formation of a local steering committee will enable a study to establish an area designation between the Romulus Community Schools and the Van Buren Public Schools.

Under legislation enacted in 1976, both school districts can join together to form an area vocational education center that will qualify them for state funds to finance their respective vocational programs.

The action was taken in line with the state's trend toward providing more financial support for area centers composed of two or more contiguous constituent local districts of not less than 12,000 students.

Final area designation comes after approval of the two member school boards and the intermediate district school board.

Making up the steering committee for the Romulus Community Schools are: Wayne Avery, school board president; Shirley Lombardi, secretary; Michael Woods, treasurer; Evelyn Hopewell, trustee; Supt. James Garfield; and E. L. Sheffield, director of vocational and career education.

Local school districts such as Romulus could be left without the necessary financial support to maintain existing vocational programs if they did not band together to take advantage of the new state legislation to establish an area vocational education center designation.

Other benefits of area designation are:

1. More diversity and greater number of vocational programs for students.
2. Better quality vocational programs by pooling of resources.

3. Less duplication of programs and services by the districts in the area designation.

4. More and modern equipment to align closely with the tools and equipment in business and industry.

5. Priority in funding for: a. construction (50-50 matching) b. Equipment for new programs (50-50 matching); c. special and unique programs (added cost)

6. Better utilization of program advisory committees.

7. Placement services for vocational graduates for all districts in the area designation.

8. Opportunity to develop community support for cooperative vocational program planning and development.

9. Special programs and services for disadvantaged and handicapped students such as special needs.

Matches skills to jobs

Open career unit at Romulus High

A career resource center is opening at Romulus Senior High School. The center will provide career guidance and vocational information for students, former students, and any citizen of the community.

The center opened daily Monday through Friday and Monday and Wednesday nights beginning June 8, 1978.

One of the big attractions of the career resource center will be the Michigan Occupational Information System (MOIS). The MOIS terminal is a computer data system with current career and job information for over 350 occupational areas. This system was jointly sponsored by the city and school system and should prove to be invaluable to our citizens.

The career resource center is a part of a program developed under a CETA TITLE III grant with the goal of providing the necessary skills a student needs to make the transition from school to the world of work.

The students' initial contact will be with the vocational counselor who will help in the evaluation of needs and goals. This counselor will help determine the type of job a student is looking for along with the skills and training needed for that job.

The media specialist in the career resource center will assist the student with the use of the MOIS terminal and career information sources. Together they will search for careers that can develop from the students' interests and goals.

By county on Dec. 1

Criminal justice programs face $15 million cutback

Multi-million dollar cuts in criminal justice programs and other services in financially-beleaguered Wayne County in eight to nine days unless the county's bid for "equity" state funding produces results before Dec. 1.

The cutbacks, amounting to $15 million in all, are contained in a "crisis" budget, adopted by the County Board of Commissioners by a 17-9 vote Nov. 3 and then reaffirmed by a 12-8 vote Nov. 9. The county fiscal year starts Dec. 1.

In adopting the budget, the county commissioners rejected a citizens committee's recommendations that judges and elected county officials be given pay raises generally amounting to 6 percent.

The budget calls for the layoff of 121 county employees outside the courts, including 24 assistant prosecutors, plus elimination of 101 vacant non-court jobs.

It also imposes some $4.3 million in court cutbacks—$1.9 million at Juvenile Court and the Youth Home, more than $1 million at Circuit Court, $679,045 at Detroit Recorder's Court and $272,000 at Probate Court.

Another $908,190 is cut from the Sheriff's budget although the Board of Commissioners budgeted more than $1 million to continue funding of the Township Road Patrol and the Sheriff's Helicopter Patrol pending resolution of a disputed arbitration award for Sheriff's deputies.

Wayne County General Hospital's $35 million budget is due to be cut $1 million. Deeper hospital cutbacks were avoided by adoption of a policy requiring the medically indigent to go to the county hospital for non-emergency care, with the Michigan Department of Social Services to arrange transportation, if necessary. This is expected to produce $2,780,000 next year.

Cutbacks amounting to approximately 15 percent across-the-board will affect virtually all county offices, including the clerk, treasurer, Department of Health and parks division.

Jarrette Simmons, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, described the budget as a "crisis budget."

"Several years of austerity budgets have boiled the fat out of Wayne County government. This is a crisis budget which cuts into the muscle and bone of vital services. People will have to get used to slower services—from the marriage license counter to park maintenance along Edward Hines Drive," she said.

Simmons pointed out that the County's permanent work force has been reduced from some 7,300 employees to 5,380 over the last five years.

Meanwhile, Simmons has been leading a county delegation in negotiating for an "equity" package of increased state funding for state-mandated costs.

"The increasing burden of state-ordered costs in the face of our stringent revenue limits has broken this county's financial back," she explained. "The cost of the court system alone has doubled in the last five years. The burden of protecting the public safety in the nation's third-largest county requires a greater degree of state participation."

The county is seeking increased state participation in meeting state-mandated costs. These include the $8 million cost of the probation departments at Circuit Court and Detroit Recorder's Court and the $9 million annual cost of hospital care of medically-indigent adults.

The county also is attempting to collect $4.2 million from the state for care of patients at Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital during 1976-77.

Budget cutbacks were required to eliminate a projected deficit of $15 million for this year.

The budget amounts to $349.7 million less than the total amount requested by departments.

Next question: How much?

W-W's Supt. Dyer talks about tax increase

BY MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

The superintendent of Wayne-Westland Community Schools was talking millage increase again Monday night.

Dr. Timothy J. Dyer told the Board of Education at its meeting that he has rounded up an administrative task force that will work on projecting costs and revenues for next fiscal year (beginning July 1, 1979) to see what amount of millage might be needed to maintain programs.

He has already cut away anything that could be considered fat from the budget, as reflected in the austere budget adopted three weeks ago for the current fiscal year, he said. They've cut to the bone, and pretty soon will be peeling away the skin, he added.

But before implementing any cuts, he will likely recommend that the citizens be given a chance to buy back the programs with new millage.

That's why the administration is working now to determine just what the cutbacks would be next school year without the money.

Dyer has been talking about a possible millage increase for some time, first hinting broadly, then calling it "unavoidable" in his budget message.

He said Wayne-Westland is the only district in Wayne County that has not had an increase in millage for operation in 12 years (excluding special bond issues).

He said the task force should have its assessment ready soon, possibly by early December, and no later than early January. Dyer would then make his recommendations and the board would decide whether or not to put the millage question to a vote.

Dyer appears certain that he will be suggesting an increase. The only question remaining seems to be how much.

The next regularly scheduled school election is the annual one in June, when school board members are chosen. Odds are that the millage election would take place before then, in the winter or spring.

Wayne-Westland has been experiencing declining enrollment in recent years, to the point of closing schools before the start of the current school year.

Caution urged

Michigan motorists stressing common sense driving and moderate drinking can help make the Thanksgiving holiday one of the safest driving periods of 1978 instead of the deadly weekend it has been the last two years, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

While motorists travel 50 percent fewer miles over the Thanksgiving weekend than on the three major summer holidays, the traditional short trips to family and friends provide maximum opportunity and temptation for drivers to overindulge in alcohol.

"Sixty-two persons died on state roads during the 1976-77 Thanksgiving periods, compared with an average of 52 for each of the three summer holidays during that same two-year period," said Arthur Gibson, Auto Club's safety and traffic manager. "Alcohol was a known or suspected factor in about 56 percent of the fatal traffic accidents over the last two Thanksgiving periods. More than two thirds of the fatal mishaps occurred within 25 miles of the drivers' homes while nearly 75 percent happened in darkness."

This Thanksgiving, motorists are expected to travel 364 million miles in Michigan during the 102-hour weekend as compared with an average 728 million miles for the Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day holidays. The Thanksgiving holiday runs from 6 p.m. tonight to 12 midnight Sunday. Auto Club suggests that holiday travelers and their hosts follow a few simple rules to make this a safe Thanksgiving holiday:

- Restrict one-day, round-trip travel to no more than 200 miles. Allow a minimum of four hours' driving time to travel 200 miles by freeway and five to six hours, if traveling on other roads.

- Plan trips to begin and end in daylight.
- If driving, remember the "one for one" rule. More than one ounce of alcohol consumed within an hour doubles a driver's chances of having a fatal traffic accident.

- Drive with extra care near home.

Approximately 500,000 spectators are expected to line Woodward Avenue to watch the J. L. Hudson Company's annual Detroit Thanksgiving Day parade, which starts at 9:30 a.m. at Woodward and Putnam. The parade will last 45 minutes.

More than 70,000 persons are anticipated for the 12:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Day football game between the Detroit Lions and Denver Broncos at the Pontiac Silverdome. Motorists not attending the game should avoid stadium-area surface streets and the I-75 freeway near Pontiac one hour before and after the contest, which should end at 3:30 p.m.

Twenty-four Michigan ski lodges are planning to help kick off Michigan's half-billion-dollar winter sports season, weather permitting, during the Thanksgiving holiday.

Canton's farmland preservation issue: Will it be revitalized?

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

Farmland Preservation: Born, 1974; Died, 1978.

By the will of the people of Canton Township the farmland saving program, still in the embryonic stage, was sent to its death last week.

The four-mill ballot question apparently left too many nagging questions in the voters' minds for them to safely pull the yes lever in favor of spending up to $16 million annually for the next 30 years to give permanence to Canton's western rural area.

If there was such a thing as a coroner's report on the demise of an intangible concept, it might say that death was due to monetary anxiety.

Another reason could be that the so-called doctors of the program lacked confidence in the patient. So much was lacking that in fact they couldn't even muster enough energy to give it moral support.

Moral support by incumbent politicians may have been just the right medicine to stabilize the heart of the program, stabilize it to survive the general election.

Does this mean that with the program buried six feet under, that politicians to lend their name to support the issue, Stein refused their request, stating that it was "too political."

By lowering the price tag of the program — from 4 mills to 2 — that in essence would be cutting into the compensation to be paid to farmers in purchasing their development rights.

the farmland will be gobbled up by bullish bulldozers of the industrious developer, schools will be bursting at the seams, and vast asphalt eyesores will emerge?

Or is there hope for a reincarnation of the farmland program?

While some want to put the issue to rest, thus allowing full development, others are pushing for its revitalization under a new format, a new body.

Former supervisor Robert Greenstein, who engineered the program, insists that, with a cut in the price tag and more confident supporters, farmland preservationists should not give up hope.

"It was almost an assured defeat," Greenstein said, "Harold Stein (supervisor) made it so expensive that no one, even the most avid supporter of the program, could in good conscience vote for it."

"Then after putting such a high price tag on it, he didn't even have the guts to support it."

A group of concerned citizens coalesced about a week before the election to gather funds to place an advertisement in the local news papers advocating the saving of farmland and the passage of the millage question. Asking incumbent

One might logically question the fairness of that. Why penalize the farmer simply because the millage proposal was defeated?

But farmers who held membership on the original land use study committee nearly two years ago, questioned why the millage question was so high in the first place.

Jack Suddendorf, farmer, said that the 4 mills was "excessively" high and was out of proportion to the value, and the amount of land to be purchased.

"They never demonstrated that 4 mills was necessary," Suddendorf said. "When we originally studied it, we never came up with anything near that figure. I can't help think that that is what brought it to its defeat."

With the 4-mill levy, farmers would yield about $3,200 to $3,400 per acre.

The ballpark figures discussed when Suddendorf was active were more like 1.5 to 2 mills.

His suggestion is that the township board seek out the opinions of land speculators when determining the market value of the farm land as opposed to the tax assessor originally used by Canton officials.

"I think they'd have had better luck talking to speculators who are more knowledgeable of the land's worth than a tax assessor," Suddendorf said. What they came up with was way out of line."

The fight to save farmland has allowed Canton residents to see beyond the bumptious bulldozer in hope of a better way.

While the search for "a better way" is uncertain, the need for compromise more than ever is not.

Park naturalist Bob Wittersheim will identify many of the park's trees and shrubs (now leafless) through features such as shape, bark, color, buds, branching and fruit.

Environment has affect on youths' ideas about God

Angie, age 3½, sees God in bed with a railing "So he won't fall out". Ten-year-old Robert gave God a thousand eyes "to see everything with", and to 6-year-old Bobby, God wears a blue uniform, carries a two-way radio and a gun. Yes, Bobby's dad is a police officer.

These children have been part of a learning experience in a Christian awareness class at Madonna College in Livonia. Students in the class — some 50 of whom are police officers — sought out friends, sons and daughters, and asked: "Do you know what God looks like?"

Most of them did, and their drawings provided many Madonna College students the rare privilege of sharing insights, the faith and the concerns of children.

Tracie, 5, perched a smiling, harp-strumming God on a cloud, while 7-year-old Lara drew a smiling little girl held by two hands, and wrote: "God touched me... He holds me in his hands." Ten-year-old Mike's God rides a donkey, and 6-year-old Andrea concluded: "God's not fussy."

"In our textbook, 'Why Am I Afraid to Love', Christian self-actualization is just a phrase," said Sr. Martin Ann, instructor for the course and a member of the religious studies department at Madonna. "But when a 6-year-old draws a picture of God on his 'beat', that phrase takes on added meaning. Theologians have long contended that man's concept of God is limited by his own experiences."

The children's drawings were put on display at Madonna, and many a father was caught admiring his offspring's handiwork. "The activity has provided moments of reflection and more than a bit of humor," said Sr. Martin Ann, "and is but an example of the manner in which materials covered in the class can be made more relevant and enriching, as well as enjoyable."

Wayne merchants ponder hiring PR firm to promote new image

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Vacant stores and buildings are not conducive to a prosperous business community.

And, to give Wayne a positive image, some of the members of the retail community have suggested that the city hire a public relations firm.

That suggestion was made recently by Pat Feight, owner of the Yamaha Keyboard and Joe Hass, proprietor of the Wayne Hobby Shoppe. Both businesses are located on Wayne's "front porch" - Michigan Ave.

The suggestions were offered during the recent dialogue between the City Council and the business community at a special meeting precipitated by the closing of a Wayne landmark - the State Theatre.

"I live in Tecumseh," said Ms. Feight, "and it is a city nearly similar to Wayne. But all the store are filled there and people don't mind walking in the rain or snow to get to these stores.

"That's because someone had done a lot of P.R. work," Ms. Feight continued. "In my opinion, you can't merchandise a product without P.R. and it can be done relatively inexpensively. When Plymouth holds its festival you can hear it about it on the radio and TV and see it written on a plane flying over - but what are we doing to promote Wayne."

"You know I advertise in the local newspapers and I sell organs and pianos," Ms. Feight continued, "but would you believe people call me and ask 'Where is Wayne?'"

Give us a guy or gal who knows what they're doing in public relations, that's what we need," Ms. Feight urged.

Hass agreed with Ms. Feight that a PR firm or person was probably the best vehicle to improve the city's image and lift the city from its doldrums.

"I live in the Joy and Merriman area," Hass related, "and I have neighbors who not only haven't been in this city, but actually don't know where Wayne is - that is the problem we have."

Hass went on to say "that I don't think we need new buildings or attempt to float a $5 million load from the EDC (Economic Development Corporation) to build another monstrosity like the mall, but we need community spirit and public relations."

"You know I lived in Hamtramck and if you go there you'll find that the residents will cut their grass, and sweep their walks and even the alleys and not wait for the city to do it - that's the kind of community spirit we need."

Robert Hutcherson, a prominent Wayne businessman, said that he didn't feel Wayne was licked.

"But I will agree that we're in bad shape," Hutcherson told the Council. "I don't agree with people when they say Wayne is dead. I have stores and people want to rent them, but we must do something on that corner of Wayne Rd. and Michigan Avenue."

"I feel right now the bad spot is the corner of Wayne and Michigan right down to the Standard Federal's and people will still come and go to Wayne if we can renovate those stores."

Of City of Inkster

Project Pride declares 'war' on negative image

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

When the name "Inkster" is mentioned, some people get a negative image.

To dispel the poor picture some local and county people have of this city, a major attack has been launched to push its positive qualities.

And it's not an easy task. Pamela Moton, who has been named the new director of YWCA Project Pride-Inkster, knows she has a major challenge ahead of her. But she is tackling the job with great enthusiasm and feels she can help turn things around in a positive way.

However, she is the second one in seven months who has been given the responsibility of creating a positive image for the city of Inkster. The first director of Project Pride — Gerald Vaughn — started with high hopes last February.

He met with city officials to work out cooperative efforts to obtain certain goals. Now Vaughn is gone. Barely three months after he started, he had to leave the job because of medical reasons, according to Mrs. Viola Henderson, manager of the Inkster-based YWCA of Western Wayne County.

Mrs. Henderson feels Mrs. Moton will do a tremendous job for Project Pride. "She's a ball of fire, has a lot of energy and know-how and is very well qualified," she said of the new director.

"Not only that, Pam is very personable and I know she'll do a good job."

Why is the YWCA involved? YWCA of Western Wayne County, a decentralized agency providing services to nine surrounding communities, chose to move its headquarters to Inkster in 1974 in its new building at 26279 Michigan Ave., just east of John Daly Road.

When Project Pride-Inkster was first inaugurated in February, YWCA Board President Carol Foss explained its purpose. "The YWCA feels it is important to stand up and be counted as caring and to help tell the story of what is good and help change what is bad in Inkster," she said at that time.

Pam Moton's new job is to carry on the five-fold objectives of Project Pride. They include:

— Development of public relations tools to portray a positive community image.

— Development of on-going rapport with metropolitan media.

— Visible improvement of the business district.

— Organization of neighborhood groups to enhance appearance and safety of the immediate neighborhood, and — Organization and implementation of an Inkster Pride Week during Michigan Week with days set aside to focus on government, school and community.

Mrs. Henderson said Vaughn got the program underway and provided a valuable contribution in initiating some programs before leaving.

One of Mrs. Moton's first priorities is to establish Neighborhood Associations throughout the city. She announced this week that she has organized her first such association in the southwest section of Inkster.

"I'm very happy to announce that 21 families in this one area came forth to be the first such group," Mrs. Moton said.

She commended several people, including Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finch, Mrs. and Mrs. Jimmy Stillwell, Mrs. Celestine Jackson, Clifford Davidson, Mrs. Alberta Hawkins, Mrs. Deloris Davis, Ms. Theresa Roberts, Lewis Harris, Mrs. Plue Anna Johnson and Buck Ogburn.

The group chose the name Inner Neighborhood Association No. 21 because there are 21 houses in this particular area and all except one pledged their support to the association. They have all promised to attend the next meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow night to discuss positive ideas how they can improve the image of Inkster.

"The building of Neighborhood Associations is one step in the Project Pride task force plan to inspire new pride in city neighborhoods," Mrs. Moton said.

Mrs. Moton comes to her new director's job with strong ties to Inkster. She has been a resident of Inkster 27 years, was educated in its school system and graduated from Inkster High School, Adult Education, in 1966.

She graduated from Detroit College of Business in 1971 with a stenographic diploma and graduated from the same school in 1977 with an Associates Degree in Executive Secretary. She's currently working toward her Bachelor of Science degrees in management.

Mrs. Moton says her major concern has been the raising of her six children: Ivan, Robert, Pamela, Karica, Dionto and Milton, III, with Inkster High, Fellrath Middle and Woodson schools.

"The good aspects of Inkster aren't publicized enough," Mrs. Moton said. "This is one of the conditions Project Pride will correct. By good aspects, I mean things like the Senior Citizens Program, school bands and booster clubs, participation of its citizens, the auxiliary patrol and police patrol.

"Project Pride will establish open communication between citizens of Inkster and city officials, so that we will be moving forward together," the new Project Pride director concluded.

Winter survival studied

Wildlife survival during the winter season will be discussed during a 1½ hour long program at the nature center of Kensington Metropark near Milford on Sunday at 9 a.m.

Through the use of slides and an outdoor walk, naturalist Steve Horn will describe the adaptations that many animals have for surviving the winter.

The program is free to families and individuals only, but advance registration is required. Vehicle entry permits also are required.

For information or registration contact the nature center at Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

Yuletide catalog shopping calls for careful reading

By LINDA JOY
Executive Director
Michigan Consumers Council

Catalogs from around the country appear in mail boxes this time of year to offer all kinds of tempting Christmas gifts. Consumers who plan to do part of their holiday shopping by mail should watch for the fraudulent mail-order company.

To avoid hassles when shopping by mail, read the catalog or the advertisement carefully before placing an order. Be wary of the mail-order firm which gives only a post office box number for an address instead of a street address.

Make sure important facts about the product are included in the advertisement. Don't rely just on the picture — check for specific information about weight, dimensions and colors. The advertisement also should mention a guarantee or warranty and should tell how long it will take to get the product.

Just because the company advertises in a local newspaper or a national publication it doesn't mean it's reputable. Check with the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office to see if there are any complaints registered against the firm. The address is Consumer Protection Division, 525 W. Ottawa, Lansing, 48909, or call 517-373-1140.

Keep records of the entire transaction when ordering a gift through the mail. Keep the name and address of the firm as well as the order number of the item. Never send cash through the mail, rather, pay by check or money order. It's also a good idea to photocopy the order blank and the check or money order. Be particularly careful when ordering a gift to be sent to the address of a friend or relative.

Consumers are protected from fraudulent mail-order houses by a Federal Trade Commission rule. According to this rule, a mail-order firm must ship an item within 30 days from the time it receives the order. If the company doesn't send the item in that time, it must give the consumer the opportunity to cancel the order without charge, by a postage-paid card for example. If the consumer does decide to cancel the order, the refund must arrive within seven business days of the cancellation. The company must adjust the consumer's account within one billing cycle if the purchase was made by credit.

Although this rule covers most mail order transactions, it doesn't apply to magazines, C.O.D. (Cash on Delivery) orders and services such as film processing.

If a problem with a mail-order firm occurs, contact the local post office for the name and address of the regional postal inspector and file a complaint with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division. In addition, notify the Federal Trade Commission, Bureau of Consumer Protection (MO-P), Washington, D.C. 20580. It cannot mediate a complaint, but the commission should be aware of illegal practices.

Relocation guide helps out-of-town

Every year, one out of every five American families pack up their things and move, according to the Bureau of Statistics. If you're one of the many thousands who will be changing residences in the Greater Detroit area, welcome help has arrived.

The fall-winter edition of the "Relocation Guide for Metropolitan Detroit", just out, has been designed for in-townners as well as out-of-townners.

A fact-filled 148 pages, the guide encompasses 52 communities and answers the questions most commonly asked about a prospective area. Each of the communities (ranging from Ann Arbor on the west, Lake Orion on the north, Richmond on the east and Monroe to the south) has a story describing their lifestyle and what makes them desirable.

For each city, detailed information and statistics are presented encompassing churches, housing, median income, medical services, newspapers, social and civic organizations, parks and recreation, schools, shopping, taxes, transportation, utilities, and more.

Each city has its own individual map plus there is a foldout four-county area map.

You'll also find in these pages such helpful articles as Packing Tips, Suggestions for Moving and a Checklist for Home Buyers.

The philosophy behind the Relocation Guide is to assist you before and during your move — and also once you're there.

Carrying a cover price of $3, the guide is available through participating chambers of commerce, leading "Information on Mortgages & Home Buying", and "Understanding Condominiums".

3 coin clubs host annual MSNS fall convention

The 23rd annual Michigan State Numismatic Society's Fall Convention has set the Thanksgiving weekend, to be held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn. And The Lincoln, Wayne and Detroit Coin Club — the hosts — promise to bring the numismatists in attendance the best and biggest convention ever.

There will be several new features presented this year to stimulate the interest of collectors and dealers alike. Dealers from all parts of the country will fill the Hubbard Ballroom to capacity and will be ready to serve the needs of the most discriminating collector.

An auction, under the auspices of Joseph Lepczyk of Lansing, will feature many top quality lots of U.S. and foreign coins, with sessions on Friday and Saturday.

The society will be conducting, the first of a series, a Judging Clinic to help provide a better and bigger supply of exhibit judges for Participating Club shows. The initial session will be on Friday evening so that aspiring judges will have all day Saturday to render their opinions on the exhibits on display.

As usual, there will be meetings held for Young Numismatists, Paper Money Collectors, Token and Medal Society, plus others. The committee has planned full programs for the ladies and an all-day Saturday program for the Young Numismatists, including a luncheon sponsored by the National Bank of Detroit's Money Museum.

George Hatie, ANA vice-president and past president of MSNS, will moderate an educational forum to be held on Saturday afternoon. Speakers on the forum will be Kurt Krueger, Max Brail and Sue Cherry, all of whom will provide topics filled with information and insight on several aspects of numismatics.

The declining dollar is the subject of much discussion in economic circles these days so Donald Hoppe, noted author and economist, will speak on investments in gold and economic conditions as they exist today. The seminar is provided by the management of Coin Investments Inc. of Birmingham.

Competitive exhibits will make the Hubbard Foyer come alive and all exhibitors will receive "Red Carpet" treatment. Many outstanding invitational exhibits will prove to be worth a trip to the convention, if only to view this wealth of information and numismatic endeavors placed on display to share knowledge and education.

All gold door prizes will be given, and other surprises await those who are planning to attend. There is no admission charge, and the public is invited to attend the vent of the year.

the nationally televised clash between the Wolverines and the Buckeyes of Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. Performing in the band are Kathryn Weyland of Wayne (from left), William Gage of Belleville, assistant for the band Eric Becher, and Jeffrey Kelly of Belleville.

Is there two Ford roads in Canton's future?

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

It's double vision — two Ford Roads in Canton Township.

Constructing a "back-end" Ford Road at the expense of homeowners and land developers met with double opposition Monday night from — you guessed it — homeowners and land developers.

While building a "mini-Ford Road" on the northern side of Ford Road between Lilley and Haggerty roads is seen by Canton officials as being a potential "bonus" the local economy, adjacent homeowners saw the road as an intrusion on their privacy.

Their dissent at Monday night's planning commission session was enough to ignite land developers to join-in and take stabs at the drawing board concept.

Homeowners argued that the lights generated from traffic along the proposed road that would give access to rearend land parcels, would shine in their dining rooms, dens and bedrooms.

Even the township's requirement that a six foot masonry wall be built as a buffer, did not appease the irate crowd.

And just as there are two sides to a road, Frank Essa, land developer said that there were two sides to the road issue.

Essa, who owns property along Ford and Lilley roads, told planning commissioners "his" side. The proposed road may make more land available for commercial development, but would be at his and other land developers expense, said Essa.

"You're premature in this. I've been in this township for 13 years. It's only been these last few years that any commercial growth has been happening," Essa added. "And now you're not even going to let us have the chance to develop our land the way we want to."

The developer argued that the road would cut into his property and would make it impossible to construct a health spa which is what he said he tentatively has in mind.

"Not only that, with your Tree Ordinance I'm required to replace a tree when one is cut down. If you cut those trees down I'll have to replace the forest I bought."

"My God there are at least 8,000 trees out there," Essa said. The cost of building the road, to be the width of a subdivision street, will be born by the property owners in the affected area, according to Jim Kosteva, township planner.

Only the outlet from the secondary access road leading to Lilley road will be constructed at the cost of the township.

Kosteva said that by providing another road giving access to the rear portions of the property along Ford Road that better use of the property will be made.

Currently, of the 1,320 feet in depth, only the front 475 feet are being utilized, he said.

Another site he says could be used, but would not be as desirable as the space between Haggerty and Lilley, between Morton Taylor and Sheldon roads.

No decision is expected on the proposal until Nov. 27 when an official public hearing will be held for public input.

Kosteva also noted that the value of the land would most probably increase with the construction of a road.

Legislator blasts forthcoming pay increase

By KIRBY HOLMES
State Representative, 26th District

The forthcoming pay increase for state legislators in Michigan is a travesty!

It is going to happen because it will be given a routine approval stamp by the State Compensation Commission which in itself is a total sham. The sole purpose of that Commission is to give more money to public officials in Michigan who don't have the guts to personally approve the increases.

There is absolutely no benefit for our State in increasing legislators' salaries, and I say this as a legislator who knows how little is accomplished in this "august" body which has created unbearable burdens on Michigan taxpayers while trying to create viable political stepping stones for its members.

Michigan has the second highest paid legislative body in this country. Our members are paid more than California legislators serving in a state with more than twice our population.

The "make work" philosophy in Lansing which has created year-long legislative sessions has totally swept under the rug the reason for its existence. That reason should be representation of the various districts in our State on matters worthy of our concern. This could easily be accomplished in 6 months or less, discarding the self-serving and highly political activities that dominate so much of the Lansing scene.

I have contrasted the State Legislature to the more than 600 school boards across this State.

Here, the members serve without pay and with a true spirit of community participation. On the whole, the school boards have excellent men and women in their memberships and they are able to maintain effective and positive control of our educational system, free of political opportunism and personal empire building. I totally reject the theory that we must pay higher salaries to attract good candidates for the Legislature.

School board memberships belie this fact. Rather, the converse is true — we attract a growing number of political hacks who participate in a "buddy system" in Lansing where safe seats are carved out for their individual voting needs and the costly waste and inefficiency prospers while a new political elite thrives.

I have criticized the Compensation Commission as a sham. It is exactly that — created 10 years ago by the Legislature to take the heat off of having to vote their own pay raises.

I sincerely intend to initiate a petition drive to amend the Michigan Constitution, abolish the Compensation Commission and forcing future legislators desirous of pay raises to have the courage to publicly vote themselves one.

Many of our sister states with comparable population have part-time Legislatures earning less than half the salaries paid the legislators of Michigan. Indiana pays its legislators $6,000 per year; Minnesota $8,500; Missouri $8,400; New Jersey $10,000; etc. New Hampshire — with the second largest legislative body in the world in a state totally free of sales or income taxes — pays its members $200 annually.

This is just another example of big government today where the people's interests and desires are thwarted.

The Compensation Commission in no way represents the best interests of the taxpayers of Michigan who pay for its rubber stamp approval. Therefore, legislators are able to justify the pay increases, saying they "never voted for them." Yet, the cancerous bureaucracy grows and grows, the taxpayers be damned.

The hope of many legislators is that the most recent meeting of the Compensation Commission raising legislative salaries by more than 20 percent will pass unnoticed.

I hope this is not the case. Michiganders deserve to know where their money is being spent and deserve to know that the Compensation Commission, acting as some type of untouchable overlord, has just quietly raised the salaries of Michigan legislators, common sense and financial responsibility notwithstanding.

Editorial opinions

Suit defends interests

The law suit filed against Wayne County by the city of Romulus and the townships of Van Buren and Huron, once again points-up the basic problem faced by Western Wayne County.

These communities have taken-on the County over spending of special assessment money for the administration of the special services county-wide rather than for the cleaning of local drains-the purpose the special assessments were supposed to have addressed.

While the practice of using these special assessments for administrative purposes is not new, it was not until 1976 that the state legislature passed legislation to prevent such misdirected spending by the county.

It was only following passage of the new legislation that communities could successfully protest the spending of their special assessment monies. And that is precisely what Romulus, Van Buren and Huron have done.

We feel it is grossly improper for the county to levy special assessments for a community service, and then spend that money anyway they wish. It becomes apparent that the only way to deal with the county is with political clout, clout now lacking in western Wayne County.

We also feel that it is improper for the citizens of Western Wayne County to be required to initiate and pay for litigation aimed at recovering their misdirected funds.

But until 1980, when the County Board of Commissioners is reapportioned, we will have to settle for the current situation where Detroit's Coleman Young gets what he wants and the rest of the county just wants.

While recovering this special assessment money can not be considered an attractive political issue, the officials of Romulus, Van Buren and Huron have represented well the interest of those they were elected to serve.

We applaud their efforts.

Bottle bill law

Two years ago, Michigan's voters passed a mandatory bottle deposit law by a 2-1 margin. In less than two weeks, that mandated law will go into effect.

While opponents of the law mounted a substantial campaign against passage of the returnable bottle concept, the overwhelming majority of Michigan's voters agreed that the returnable bottles would substantially reduce the roadside litter in Michigan and the associated costs.

Now that the voters have spoken, it is incumbent upon all of us to prepare for the transition to the returnable bottles.

It is certain that the new law will impose some inconvenience on all of us who regularly use the products those bottles provide. But over the long run, our state will be the beneficiary of the esthetic improvement of our roadways, and our taxpayers will be the beneficiary of reduced litter removal costs.

On the other side of the coin, Michigan's bottlers, who fought for rejection of the new law, have by-and-large now met their commitment to provide the new bottles and procedures for their handling.

As an indication of the magnitude of the problem created for bottlers by passage of the new returnable bottle law, Pepsi-Cola, the state's largest soft drink manufacturer, has invested over $52 million in converting to an all-returnable bottle market.

Other state bottlers have invested similar amounts to meet the thrust of the new citizen mandated law.

With that investment in Michigan industry, it is proper for the Michigan resident who voted in favor of the law to now make the effort to ensure the success of the new law.

At the very least, we at Associated Newspapers look forward to the new industry that the law will create. Providing our youngsters with the opportunity of collecting the improperly disposed of bottles, and making a small profit for their efforts.

The most we could expect is to see our roadways free of dangerous and unsightly debris, that taxpayers have been spending millions to remove.

that "A dealer shall not refuse to accept an empty returnable container of any kind, size or brand sold by that dealer...nor shall he refuse to pay a full refund in cash."

It is obvious that the law does not address itself to the condition of the returnable containers. According to several officials of the state, the absence of either a bottle top or the pull tab of a can does not relieve the dealer of his obligation to pay a full deposit for the container.

Okay, kids.
Ready...set...GO!

Tall, tall buck tails

With the annual migration of hunters to the Michigan woods underway, the memories of my past skulking in the 'wild' return in a flood.

My experiences with the elusive 'white tail' began when I was a boy. My father would pack us up in the family car for the trip to Beverton, Michigan, the heart of 'God's country.'

Dad's brother, Sherman, had left the bustling city life for the 80-acre parcel between Midland and Gladwin. He sought the quiet of the country and also sufficient room to raise his 13 growing children.

In spite of the man-power available to him, he was unable to coax a living from the rather poor soil of the area and was forced to go to work at Dow Chemical.

I recall warmly, the farm where we headquartered during the two weeks in November called 'Deer Season', when we spent the time laughing, playing cards, chasing local girls, and occasionally hunting.

To say that I recall the hunting trips warmly, is simply a figure of speech, I want you to understand.

You see, I was assigned to the barn's hay-loft each evening when it came time for bed, and you don't know what cold really is until you have spent a mid-November night with only straw to protect you from the north-country's distinct lack of Fahrenheit degrees. But the memories have been warmed by the passage of time.

I recall the large farmhouse filled to bursting with kids and adults. The kitchen, warmed by the large wood-burning cook stove in the corner, which provided the only available heat for the house, and was the location for most group activities.

During November's blistering cold, the adults would sit around the large kitchen table playing pinochle and recalling their favorite 'buck tails'. Sherman recalled how a friend had bagged his first buck with his car, and later told everyone the dramatic details of his struggle in finally outsmarting the animal.

My father talked about the buck he had to drag over a mile-and-a-half out of the Canadian back woods.

Cousin Ken added the story about a buck he had seen literally crawling across one of the country roads. Apparently to avoid being seen by hunters. Ken's brother Dick told the story of the hunter who, when walking into a small clearing, came across a very angry buck. The buck, according to the story, pawed the ground while giving the hunter a terrible look. Felled by one exact shot, from the hunter's rifle, the buck was later examined and was found to have been dispatched by a shot-gun.

The group around the kitchen table also reserved a portion of their time to dissecting the operators and members of area hunt-club.

According to most farmers of that area, hunt-club members were lazy city louts who were unable to manage the most basic hunting ethics. My uncle recounted the story of how a local boy had been accosted by a hunt-club member.

The boy had been walking home from hunting when he was stopped by a voice, asking him what he was doing. Looking around, the boy could not locate the owner of the voice. As he started to move again, the voice asked again what he was doing.

Turning again, the boy located the 'fearless' hunt-club member, high in a tree. Gun hunting from trees is, of course, illegal.

'Old fearless' in the tree told the boy he was on Hunt-Club property and that he should leave. The boy explained that he was not hunting, just returning to his home, and apologized.

That evening, the 'fearless' middle-age hunt club member, went to the boy's home with the State Police, and had the 14-year-old arrested. Sherman considered that entire episode just the worst stroke of luck since most hunt-club members were much too lazy to hunt, let alone climb a tree.

Yes, my days in Beverton will be long remembered.

Lacking, I suppose, the true killer's instinct, I have never been much of a hunter, but I will certainly remember fondly, those hunting trips, and occasionally, even the occasional hunting.

Taxpayer worries about future

EDITOR:

I am a young taxpayer of Romulus and most concerned over the future for myself, children and parents too. Don't the senior citizens remember the depression (with my grand-parents) and the aftermath of too much government spending and the all out go for broke that sent the banks to closed doors and hard times for all?

I am not against senior citizens. My parents will soon be senior citizens too. I will gladly help any in need regardless of age. However, a program which does not reflect assets cannot accurately reflect needs.

My folks have always taught me to prepare for the tomorrows and don't over live today — as that depression was dreadful and they don't want me or mine to endure the likes of it.

Our load of taxes are far heavier now than ever before, and where will it end if government keeps over spending and expecting us to foot the bill?

Looking at the empty school buildings we can see the younger taxpayers getting smaller in numbers — so who will foot the bill? Not just who but HOW?? Our mechanical technology is replacing much of the manual labor. Those machines don't pay taxes for us any more than the expanding welfare recipients do.

Let us be cautious of the over spending now and expecting our descendants to have to pay the price for us. Federal government is our tax dollars — not just all Freebies!!

Let's do all we can to avoid another depression, as most older folks would never want anyone to have to endure the likes of that again!

Let our politicians at all levels know we must practice diligent budgeting and lighten the load for taxpayers as we don't want another war — just to avoid another depression.

Folmar thanked

EDITOR:

We would like to thank Mr. Lenard Folmar, the Romulus City Clerk, for making a voting machine available to the American Government classes at Romulus High School.

We would also like to thank our American Government teachers, Mr. Willnus and Mr. Hama, for making the proper connections for obtaining a voting machine.

The best experience is direct experience, and by actually voting on election day, as the general population did, we have gained a true feeling of what the electoral process is really like.

Reflections

'Beginning of the end'

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

It was one o'clock in the morning and I was still sobbing.

My husband was patting me on the shoulder between snores and saying "There, there..." but I knew that he wasn't feeling the deep down anguish that I was feeling. After all, hadn't he been saying for years, "3,000 miles away in a one room apartment" every time a couple of kids got into a fight, or the older kids needed a weekend out of town to get away from it all...and left that which they were getting away from at our house?

He couldn't possibly be feeling what I was feeling knowing that in a few months I was going to have to kiss my baby goodbye as she went off on a venture of a few months in Europe. He was probably looking forward to it. At this thought I sat up in bed and punched him one.

"I don't know what you're bawling about," he said pulling himself up and rubbing his shoulder. "She's only going to be gone three months."

"It's the beginning of the end..." I howled. He kept rubbing his shoulder and looking through the door and out into the hall where two little kids were lurking.

"It's never the end," he said. "where do you think those kids came from? When you married off their mother did you think you would get more kids lurking around listening to you bawling in the middle of the night?"

"No," I said and rubbed my nose on the pillow.

"That's what I say, 3,000 miles and a one room apartment." He got out of bed and shoed the grandchildren back into their room.

"What's she bawling about?" one of them asked and their grandfather answered gallantly, "She's just snoring extra loud."

"Just look at it this way," he went on crawling back into bed. "You will be able to look into your kid's room and see the carpet we spent a fortune on a couple of years ago. Have you ever seen that carpet since it was installed?"

"No," I sobbed. "I even lost George (our dog) in her room last week."

"Where did you find him?"

"Under two of her sweaters that she said she had lost at school."

At the mention of the dog a mighty upheaval went on under my bed and with a bit of barking and harrumphing, George (our dog) crawled out and stuck his wet nose on my arm and whimpered.

This brought the two little grandkids back in the room saying they were hearing things that went bump in the night. Naturally they crawled into our bed and George (our dog) tried to follow.

"See," my husband said as he cradled one of the kids and pushed George back under the bed. "Nothing ever is the beginning of the end. What you began a long time ago keeps going on and on and on, 3,000 miles and a one-room apartment..." The last word was caught in his throat as his eyes closed and he fell asleep, along with the two kids and the dog.

"I guess there isn't an awful lot of difference in being a grandmother than a mother," I said to myself and hugged the little body closest to me. "It will be a long time before she goes away to Europe..."

Health Beat

Pathology is preventative medicine

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

The contemporary hospital is equipped to deliver a variety of professional services to the communities it serves. It would be perhaps impossible, and certainly unfairly subjective, to make any attempt to establish a hierarchy which would suggest that some services are more important than others.

Still, there is a service used by virtually every patient who is admitted to Annapolis Hospital and by many who receive care in the out-patient or emergency area, which has a profound effect on the quality of health care services delivered.

The specific reference is to Pathology, which for the purposes of this column we will define as "... the anatomic and physiologic deviations from the normal that constitute disease or characterize a specific disease ...".

According to Rodrigo Diaz-Perez, M.D., "Pathology may be split into three interrelated, but discrete, dimensions. First, we may speak of clinical pathology which comprises the work in the laboratories which would include work in microbiology, biochemistry, serology, routine chemistry, immunohematology, hematology, and the like.

"In surgical pathology, we direct our efforts to identifying abnormalities in tissue samples taken from patients in the operating room. Anatomical pathology addresses itself to post mortem examinations.

"The third dimension, forensic pathology, is that specialty practiced by County Medical Examiners in which the medical-legal ramifications of unusual expirations are carefully examined."

Dr. Diaz-Perez said he wished to emphasize that the Pathology service at Annapolis Hospital is a modern facility as can be found in a community hospital.

He said the laboratories function seven days a week, 24 hours a day. "We have around 60 technologists working in this service including two associate pathologists."

Each year more than 600,000 procedures are accomplished in the laboratories, and it's safe to say that "many lives are saved."

Dr. Diaz-Perez said that the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals requires that only tissue taken from the human body in the operating room be delivered to the laboratories for examination and analysis. There are more than 6000 surgical procedures each year at Annapolis; hence, the laboratories are busy.

In the area of post mortem examination

(commonly called autopsy) he said that about 30 such procedures are done annually.

"Post mortem examinations are done for several reasons. First, in such a procedure, it's possible to confirm the original diagnosis and to verify the appropriateness of the therapeutic regime ordered by the physician(s) managing the case. Additionally, data can be collected which may ultimately help save the life of some one, especially some one in the same family.

"I performed a post once on a lady, and just a few years later did the same procedure on her son. We were able to detect a common problem, evidently heredity played the dominant role, and thus we were able to alert remaining members of the family to a possibly dangerous situation.

"At that time, tests were ordered and appropriate medications prescribed to ensure that others in that family would not suffer from the same malady.

"We are proud of our modern, automated facilities. And we are equally proud of the professionalism of our staff. The communities served by Annapolis Hospital can have every confidence that their needs will be served as exactly as humanly possible," he concluded.

A visit to Death Row

By JIM BRADLEY

Tom sat on death row.

He didn't believe in capital punishment, but here he was spending his last hours after being sentenced to death. He paced back and forth in the prison yard not knowing when the final blow would come.

I watched him closely, noticing him fidget nervously, pawing at the ground. He was one of many sentenced to this place of execution.

Tom was big and strong and had lived a fairly decent life. I wasn't sure the death decree had been entirely fair, so I visited him to get his side of the story. Interviewing him was difficult, but you can learn quite a bit just from watching one's actions. He continued to pace back and forth.

It seemed a shame that he would lose his life just as everyone else was enjoying the holiday. I tried to picture him in death, still of body, entering another world. The man who guarded the gate eyed me suspiciously and never once took his glance off those on death row.

Tom's food still lay on his plate getting cold. I offered it to him, but after gobbling a few bites, he turned and walked away. He didn't seem to trust me, even though I had come for the express purpose of helping him escape the death penalty.

The gate guard walked over to the bench where I was seated and sat down beside me. I had to ask about Tom. "Is it true that Tom is scheduled to die today?"

"If not today, he'll be executed tomorrow," he answered.

"Don't you feel guilty with his blood on your hands?"

"No, not guilty, but it is a little messy," he admitted.

Attempting one last effort to speak with Tom, I walked over and put my hand on his head. "How do you feel about dying?" I asked him.

"I am as innocent as can be. I'm unjustly sentenced to die," he replied. He paced back and forth, his head jerking with each step. "Not only do they arbitrarily sentence me to suffer death, they take great delight in it," Tom continued. "Why, they even seem to have a holiday atmosphere about it."

I agreed with him. I took the lonely path back to the prison farm gate and looked longingly back at Tom. It was the last time I would see him alive. He would be dead before midnight.

My feelings went out to him and his plight, but my mercenary feelings must have gotten the best of me, for I agreed to the slaying of Tom. I was as guilty as any of the others in society who condemned this helpless, innocent one to death.

And the next time I saw him, Tom Turkey was superbly dressed, surrounded by cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes and all the trimmings on the Thanksgiving dinner table.

HAVE A... Happy Thanksgiving

It is a pleasure to express our thanks for your kind patronage in the past and to extend our very best wishes for a Thanksgiving that reflects all the abundance of this prosperous land.

Decision pending on Dyer's 2 'incompatible' jobs

Yes, Timothy Dyer is still on the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents, and no, he's not among the candidates to be president of the university when James Brickley takes office as lieutenant governor. That's the word right from the superintendent's mouth. Dr. Dyer is superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools. Ever since Brickley became candidate for state office, the rumor mill has churned out a believable speculation that Dyer would be the next EMU president, if Brickley were elected. Brickley was, and Dyer isn't. Last week he said the Board of Regents has been advertising for a president, and the selection committee has been whittling down the list of candidates. Dyer is not on the committee. And, he added, "Dr. Dyer is not on the list."

In the meantime, Dyer continues to serve on the EMU governing board while attorneys study an attorney general's opinion, made public about a month ago, that states that Dyer's two roles — as superintendent in Wayne-Westland and Board of Regents member at Eastern — are "incompatible."

handed the opinion over to the EMU legal counsel, and there it remains. He expects it to be several more weeks before the attorneys come up with conclusions about what Dyer should do.

Several months ago, former Wayne-Westland Board member Dr. Vincent Petitpre was removed from the board by his fellow members when an attorney general's opinion labelled his job as Taylor school superintendent incompatible with the board membership. The removal was upheld in Circuit Court, but still is on appeal to the State Supreme Court.

At that time, Petitpre asked for another attorney general's opinion on Dr. Dyer's situation. Dyer said then that if a conflict of interest was found, he'd resign as EMU regent.

But once the attorney general did rule, Dyer said it was totally contrary to past opinions and legal precedent and turned it over to EMU lawyers.

Narrative booklet looks at detectors

A booklet in narrative form — "What You Should Know About Smoke Detectors" — currently is available to the public from the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

The booklet tells the consumer what he or she should know about smoke detectors. More than 6,000 die annually in home fires and more than 300 thousand are injured, and it is hoped that the information contained in the booklet can help educate those unfamiliar with the advantages of smoke detectors and, in turn, may help prevent future fire injuries and deaths.

Proper selection, installation, and maintenance of smoke detectors are discussed in the CPSC booklet. Also reviewed are popular misconceptions on the dangers of nighttime fires.

For those planning to purchase a new smoke detector, the booklet explains how detectors work and how effective they are.

Once the consumer is convinced that he or she will purchase a smoke detector, the important questions asked are: What kind do we need? How many will adequately protect my family? Where do we put them?

For answers to these and other questions on smoke detectors, write for your copy of the CPSC booklet: Smoke Detector Booklet, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C., 20207, or call the toll-free CPSC HOTLINE at 800-638-2666. Deaf persons who have special teletypewriters also can call the Hotline.

Fair Lane Mansion takes on an old-fashioned Yule air

A traditional old-fashioned Christmas will be celebrated this year in the elegance of Fair Lane, the historic 56-room mansion of automotive pioneer Henry Ford.

During the holiday season visitors to the baronial tudor house will be greeted by the fresh smell of greens and the rich fragrance of spices. The entire house will be professionally decorated by area florists and will feature five different Christmas trees set up in rooms throughout the estate.

Guests will be greeted by garlands of fresh greens accented by fruits and nuts entwining the hand-carved oak stair case in the entrance hall. Pink, red and white poinsettias will be scattered throughout the house and each room will carry its own theme and color scheme. The decorations will capture the flavor of an English tudor home as it might have looked during the time the Fords lived there.

A Norfolk Island pine Christmas tree adorned with tiny bows, popcorn strings and miniature ornaments will highlight the sun porch where the colors will be green with gold and natural accents.

The Baker Room, used by Mrs. Ford as a study, will be done in cream velvet ribbons accented by butterscotch and suede candles and white azaleas.

A 12-foot blue spruce decorated with white doves and gold and white ornaments, will dominate the music room where bayberry green candles and blueberry cedar roping will add accent.

What a year for Class B gridders

All-Area has players who can do everything

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

The Sports Meridian

Why a Class B

All-Area...?

Because it's there

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Every year around this time the late Harry Hidenfelter, the athletic director, at Belleville High, comes to my mind.

Harry would bug me for our All-Area football selections; and when I would reveal the lineup, to him he would then agreed or remind me that there are some people who "obviously should be on there somewhere."

Hidenfelter enjoyed telling the story about his protege Frank Nunley who was overlooked by all of the Metropolitan Detroit newspapers when it came time to select All-Suburban and All-State teams.

"You guys don't know what you're talking about," Hidenfelter told my colleagues downtown. "Nunley will be playing football long after 95 percent of your all-state picks have forgotten football."

Of course, Nunley went on to become to star for Michigan and was named to the all-Big Ten Conference team as a linebacker. He then played more than a decade of pro football before hanging it up recently with the San Francisco 49ers.

And, a few years back when another Belleville star, Keith Simons was overlooked by the same people downtown, Hidenfelter was on the telephone again, using language that he and my kind understand.

KEITH SIMONS

"How in heavens can anyone not give even a honorable mention to that kid," Hidenfelter said to me. "Hey, that kid can move into any college or university team right now and play for them."

Of course, Hidenfelter was right. The rugged Simons started as a defensive tackle at Minnesota as a freshman and went on to play varsity football for the Gophers for the next four years.

Why reminisce, now?

Well, for years we have been picking All-Area teams that were usually dominated by the big Class A schools - like Wayne, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin, Plymouth Salem and Belleville - the small "B" teams usually had to watch at the sidelines and, obviously, the coaches felt - as I did and do - that these athletes were being given a raw deal.

With this edition, we changed policy and philosophy and whenever possible we will select two All-Area teams - one for Class A, the other Class B.

Like one of the coaches said after learning about the new policy, "Mooradian, you're getting smart in your old age."

Let's leave it at that...

And you know that the wrestling season is here when Jak Warren, minus some 20 pounds, appears at your doors.

Like the robin heralding the first signs of spring, Warren, who has helped this desk gather wrestling stats and results for over eight years, dropped in Sunday to announce, "I'm well and alive and ready to help out this season."

And we can use all the help we can get around here.

Randy Pichan didn't make the all-Huron Conference football team as a quarterback, but the 6-4½, 188-pound senior from New Boston was given a slot on the defensive unit.

Pichan's stats, argued the coaches, weren't as good as someone else's, therefore the veteran signal caller was named as a defensive standout.

What the Huron Conference coaches overlooked is that Pichan will probably to playing quarterback at one of the major colleges.

"Randy has more potential, in my opinion," said Huron Coach Tom LaBeau, "than any football player I have ever coached."

Pichan personifies that key element which the rest of the coveted and inaugural Associated Newspapers' Class B team possesses -- potential.

Going down the lineup, each and every one of the players honored has displayed signs of greatness as a prep gridder and the mark of developing into standout college players.

The ANP has also drafted speedster Mark Woodson for the offensive backfield and joining Pichan and Woodson are Cherry Hill's Rick Searcy and Darnell Green.

The offensive line includes ends Krafus Walker (Inkster), Jon Sweet (Cherry Hill), tackles Clifton Murphy (Inkster) and Bob Tamm (Cherry Hill); guards Marcus Woods (Inkster) and Wayne Nichols (Cherry Hill). The center is John Lucas who has won the position for two consecutive years in the Suburban Athletic Conference as a member of Robichaud's squad.

Some of these names will also pop up on defense as the candidates have shown they can go both ways; these players include Searcy, who was drafted as a defensive halfback (his stats will tell why), Murphy, as a defensive tackle, and Sweet, as a linebacker.

Others honored on the defensive unit include tackle Mark Morris (Huron), also a two-way performer, nose guard Daryl Gallant (Cherry Hill), end Mark Taras (Cherry Hill), linebackers Eddie Umin (Huron) and Ralph Payne (Robichaud), along with defensive halfbacks Fred Block (Huron) and Tom Minor (Cherry Hill).

And what a great year all of these players had.

PICHAN - Heavily-recruited by the blue chip universities, the good-looking senior completed his third year on the varsity squad at Huron. Possessing a strong passing arm, Randy completed 54 of his 135 tosses this year that accounted for 706 yards and four touchdowns. He also rushed for 427 yards in 75 attempts and chipped in three TDs thanks to his rushes. He kicked 13 point-after and two field goals and passed for a conversion. Randy also kicked off for the Chiefs and averaged 50 yards per try for 27 attempts. A two-way performer, Pichan was also selected all-conference (Huron) as a defensive end.

WOODSON - A state sprinting champ, Mark can cover the 100 yards in 9.9 and it was that speed that gave Coach Bob Yauck and his Bulldogs an added dimension the past two years. Woodson helped the Dearborn Heights' gridders win the conference title a year ago and provided the offense so that the defending champs could salvage a third of the SAC (Suburban Athletic Conference) crown this year.

He scored six touchdowns in his 134 rushes that piled up 710 yards. Mark also caught nine passes - good for 156 yards and a touchdown.

"Mark is a definite threat anywhere on the field because of his explosive speed," said Robichaud's Yauck. "And, in an era when it has become accustomed to knocking athletes, this youngster has had perfect attendance at school for four years - he hasn't missed a day."

SEARCY - Rick, a senior, was the captain of the record-setting Cherry Hill grid team that amassed an 8-1 record, best in the school's long history. A varsity starter on defense for three years and an all-Tri-River and All-Area candidate for two years, he returned three kicks for touchdowns of 95, 92 and 65 yards. Searcy also rushed for nine TDs and passed for 12 other scores, completing 47 of 90 tosses for a total of 1,016 yards. Rick rushed for 415 yards on 55 carries and can run the 40 yards in 4.7 seconds.

Qualifies for national's

Tolson wins Midwest title

Doug Tolson, Wayne Memorial's 16-year-old sensational distance runner, maintained his winning touch last week by capturing the AAU Midwestern Cross Country championship staged at Cass Benton Park.

Tolson, who only recently became the second runner in Wayne High's history to win a Class A state cross country title, qualified for the national championships which will be held next month in Kansas.

"Doug is proving that he is among the best among his peers," said Wayne Coach Ernie Righetti. "We felt that he should get some exposure nation-wide to see what he can do against runners who are tops in their respective states."

In the midwestern competition, there were some 95 runners representing AAU teams from Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, Indiana and Illinois.

DOUG TOLSON

With temperatures in the low 40's, Tolson turned in a 12:51 for the 2½ mile course that was rain-soaked and slippery caused by Thursday's unusual heavy downpour.

The victory enabled Tolson to advance to the national invitational scheduled for Dec. 2. Righetti said that the local AAU will be footing the bill.

Meanwhile, Tolson and his teammates at Wayne Memorial received news of more post-season honors. Wayne runners were awarded four of the nine all-conference berths. With Tolson as an obvious unanimous selection, the Great Lakes 8 Conference coaches also drafted Paul Spencer, a junior, Mark Michalowski, a senior, and Andy Stopinski, a junior, for the all-conference team.

ANP unveils first Class B grid team

"Rick is an excellent signal caller," said Coach Jerry Pawloski, "and is very adept at reading defenses and calling audibles. In my opinion he also is the finest quarterback in this school's history."

Searcy averaged 7.8 yards rushing per carry and had a total offense of 1,431 yards which helped Cherry Hill to finish sixth in a field of 41 teams in the Metro West area for points scored. The leading scorer in 1978 with 55 points, Rick was co-Most Valuable Player and Best Offensive Back at Cherry Hill for 1978. He also had 31 tackles and two interceptions.

GREEN - A two-way starter at wingback and defensive cornerback, the 5-9, 155-pound Cherry Hill senior started for the Spartans for the past two years. He has "excellent tools for an offensive wingback - good receiver, excellent blocker and hard and tough runner who is difficult to bring down," according to Coach Pawloski.

Green kicked a 30-yard field goal with 1:45 left in the game to give his team a narrow 3-0 victory over a stubborn Taylor Kennedy. He is a fierce tackler as evidenced by the opposition's unwillingness to run toward him - and he's very sound on defense. Green averaged 5.1 yards per rush and scored four touchdowns and nine extra points to become the second leading scorer on the team. He was also voted the Spartans' best defensive back. He had five interceptions and 24 tackles.

WALKER - In what was a dismal and long Inkster year, Krafus Walker was one of the few bright spots on Coach Arnie James' team. The 6-1, 180-pound senior, a split end, caught 15 passes for 192 yards and two touchdowns. He was an all-conference choice. His credentials also include an outstanding record as a middlelinebacker where he accounted for 72 solo tackles and 33 assists. He had two fumble recoveries to his credit, three pass interceptions and four QB sacks. Krafus' versatility also was put to good use as a quarterback where he completed seven passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and carried the ball 17 times for 169 yards and a TD. Walker also did the Viking kicking and averaged 32.4 yards a try and 48.7 yards per kickoff.

SWEET - Considered the best receiver in the Tri-River Conference, Jon, a 5-11, 195 pound senior captain, displayed the ability to make one-handed catches. He nabbed 30 passes for 608 yards and four touchdowns for 20 yards per catch. Jon has been a three-year starter and an excellent two-way performer. Owner of All-League and All-Area honors and honorable mention as an All-Suburban choice, Sweet holds the school record for receptions for the season and single game at 10 catches against Clarenceville and also led the Spartans on defense in tackles with 65.

The team's defensive signal caller, Jon is an outstanding student, ranking 23 in a class of 283.

MORRIS - Quick for his 6-0, 238-pound frame, Morris was a two-way performer at tackle for Huron. A three-year letterman, who was named on the all-conference team both on defense and offense, Mark made his rivals think twice before they decided to run his way.

"He is an excellent football player who will play college ball," said Coach LaBeau. "He's quick for his size and a super performer."

As a defensive tackle, Morris counted 70 tackles, including 25 solos and seven sacks of the QB. He recovered one fumble and blocked a punt. He has lettered for three years.

TAMM - Going two-way as a tackle, Tamm seldom left the field and saw more playing time than any one of his teammates. A good hitter with exceptional quickness, Bob was nominated for All-League and All-Area as a junior. He had 55 tackles this year to his credit, and also two sacks of the quarterback and had an uncanny knack for finding errant footballs. He came up with five fumble recoveries. Tamm has been a member of the Spartan varsity squad for the past three years and was responsible for opening up big holes for a record-setting offense that averaged over 28 points a game. Tamm was voted the Spartans' best offensive lineman of the year.

WOODS - Marcus was rated as an excellent blocker and shared the responsibility with teammate Clifton Murphy for opening up the holes for the backs. He did his job against superior odds. A 5-10, 181 pound senior, Woods also was a defensive tackle that switched to end when the need occurred. He had 52 solo tackles on the season and 22 assists along with three fumble recoveries and four QB sacks.

"He is a very dependable and steady player," commented Coach James.

NICHOLS - A hard-nosed grinder who can come off the football very fast, Wayne also was named to the all-conference team. He started as a guard and switched from tackle and linebacker. On defense, Nichols' stats include 50 tackles, two interceptions, and a sack of the QB. An excellent year on defense and a superior offensive lineman, Nichols has been one of the reasons for the football renaissance at Cherry Hill.

LUCAS - The strongest blocker on the Robichaud squad, Lucas has held down the center spot for the past two years, earning all-conference recognition during that period. He also contributed to the success of the Bulldog defensive unit, one of the toughest in the area by picking up 41 solo tackles, 17 assists, four QB sacks to become the third leading defensive player on the team.

GOREE - Another two-way performer at Robichaud, Goree can be used either as a defensive or offensive end. On offense, the 6-1, 190-pound senior hauled in 14 of quarterback Sidney Brisbane's passes for 320 yards and a touchdown. He also kicked two field goals, one for 36 yards. A three-year starter as a tight end, Yauck considers Goree "as the finest all-around offensive end we have had at the school in many years because of his speed and excellent hands." An All-Suburban selection, and tied for the team's MVP Award, Goree also stood out defensively where he contributed 41 solo tackles, 31 assists and blocked one punt for a touchdown. He was a player at the right place and time as he also cashed in on three safeties.

MURPHY - A player called upon to do many things at crucial times, the 6-1, 228-pound senior handled the center, guard and tackle responsibilities at one time or other for the Vikings. As a nose guard and tackle, Murphy finished his final prep grid year with 69 solo and 32 assists. He also came up with seven fumble recoveries and a pass interception. Clifton also brushed defenders aside and got to the quarterback five times.

A four-year varsity starter, Murphy's offensive stats are equally impressive. A good blocker, Clifton paved the way for Viking ballcarriers.

GALLANT - A fullback who was put to use as a noseguard on defense, Gallant was a unanimous all-conference selection for the past two years. He is extremely strong and quick - has been clocked in 4.6 for the 40 and benches 300 pounds. An excellent blocker and ballcarrier who averaged 4.4 yards per, Darryl also caught two passes for 60 yards and two TDs. He rushed for four touchdowns this season.

"He's a fine leader on defense," Coach Pawloski said, "and, an excellent young man."

On defense, Gallant had 55 tackles, recovered two fumbles and sacked the opposing QB seven times. He gave many a center the fits and was voted the best defensive lineman of the team.

TARAS - The only junior to break into the All-Area lineup, Taras played both defensive and offensive end for Pawloski. He was called into duty after the Spartans lost Russ Duncan in the first game to an injury. As a defensive end, Tara contributed 52 tackles, and five sacks of the QB, which tied him with Gallant for top honors in that category.

"Mark was an unexpected and pleasant surprise," Pawloski said. "He moved in and performed very well, in fact, Gallant and Taras accounted for two-thirds of the sacks between them."

UMIN - A 5-11, 180-pound explosive linebacker, Ed was named to the all-conference team as a linebacker and a guard. He notched 65 tackles and 16 solos on the season and picked up three fumbles, one going for a touchdown. He also had three sacks of the QB.

"A remarkable player," said LaBeau, "Ed co-captained this team that could have been our best but, unfortunately, we got off to a slow start and it took us some time to jell."

PAYNE - A 209-pound, 5-11 senior, Payne set all kind of records this year at Robichaud. The solidly-built linebacker amassed 215 points (2 for a solo, one for an assist), to erase former Robichaud great, Willie Smith's all-time mark. Payne accounted for a phenomenal 79 solo tackles and 49 assists and also blocked a punt and recovered two fumbles.

Against the then undefeated Melvindale club, Ralph set a team record of 19 solo tackles.

"Players like Payne come along once in a lifetime," said Yauck. "He

Grid Coach of the Year

Pawloski turned Spartans around

Five years ago, Jerry Pawloski inherited a football team at Cherry Hill High School that almost everyone had given up on.

And in his first year as head coach, Pawloski probably wanted to toss in the towel - his team failed to win a game.

"It took us (stressing the word 'us') five years to build a winner," said Pawloski whose 1978 Spartans won eight of their nine games. "This year's team was in the seventh and eighth grades when I took over.

"And I now know that it takes at least four years to do the things you need to in order to field a winner.

"And you learn quickly that you can't do it by yourself - it has to be a group of people - your self, the kids, the school and the community," Pawloski added.

For turning the program around at Cherry Hill and emerging with a team that was one victory away from a playoff berth, The Associated Newspapers has singled out Pawloski as our Class B Football Coach of the Year.

Pawloski, who has been associated with winners most of his life, prepped at Detroit Holy Redeemer and was awarded an athletic scholarship top the University of Buffalo where he was named captain of the grid team in his senior year.

This isn't the first time the gregarious Pawloski has been honored as a coach. As a swimming coach Jerry has produced some of the finest talent in the state. His teams have chalked up several conference championships and have gone undefeated in dual meet competition which have earned Pawloski accolades as "Coach of the Year" on at least two other occasions in that sport.

"I'm really proud of this team," Pawloski said at a recent banquet in honor of the gridgers. "You know that the system is doing something right when you have so many excellent young men who display unselfishness and teamwork every time they walk on to the field."

Ex-Glenn gridded honored

Terry Johnson, an outstanding gridded as a prep at John Glenn a few years back, was among several Wayne State University players honored at the Tartars' Awards banquet recently.

Johnson, who has developed into a 6-3, 200-pound defensive back, was named as WSU's most valuable defensive back. The team's monster back, Johnson intercepted seven passes in nine Wayne State games and was ranked in the top five in the final NCAA Division II statistics in interceptions.

Last year he picked off five passes to give him 12 for his Tartar career.

Some advice for 'M' fans

Wolverine football fans traveling to Columbus, Ohio this Saturday for the traditional University of Michigan-Ohio State game should allow at least four hours driving time from Southeastern Michigan, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Columbus is 208 miles south of Detroit and 191 miles from Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor residents can travel US-23 south to the junction with I-475 which joins I-75 south of Toledo. From there, travel to Findlay, where Ohio-15 joins US-23, and continue south via I-270 and I-71.

Detroit-area motorists can connect with Ohio-15 by taking the Fisher Freeway (I-75) or I-275. To reach the stadium in Columbus, exit I-71 at Hudson Street, go west to high Street and then south to the intersection of High and Lane Avenue.

Parking is available in the stadium area.

Class begins with Charlie...Charlie Sanders.

Named to the All-Pro team three times and to the Pro Bowl five times, all-time leading Lion pass receiver, Campaign Chairman for the Metropolitan Chapter March of Dimes for the past five years, married and the father of six children, Charlie Sanders is an example of excellence in his field and in his community.

For many reasons, Charlie Sanders was selected by his peers to receive the honor of Athlete Citizen of the Year at the 9th Annual March of Dimes Sports Award Banquet on Jan. 15, 1979 at the Raleigh House in Southfield.

A last hurrah for prep gridders

The 1978 high school football season, which began in unseasonable torrid weather in September with temperatures in the 90's, will become history after the MHSAA state championship Saturday at Pontiac's Silverdome. And before the last hurrahs are heard, the Associated Newspapers will present its traditional Class A All-Area team, a team made up of players who are among the most sought-after in the state. So, for that final touch to a season filled with many surprises, don't miss next week's edition.

Multi-talented prep gridders form nucleus of 'B' team

combines coachability with devotion and team leadership and obviously we're going to miss him a year from now."

MINOR - A runningback who doubled as a defensive halfback, Minor has been a three year starter for the Spartans and was named all-conference for the past two years. Versatile - he has played all of the backfield positions - Tom shared MVP honors with Searcy. Minor finished his prep football career with 500 yards on 66 carries for a 7.6 per try and that made him the top rusher for the Spartans. He scored five TDs and four extra points. A league hurdles' champ, Tom can cover 40 yards in 4.6.

RALPH PAYNE

"He's an excellent leader and has helped captain this team for the past two years," said Pawloski. "Tom is one kind of player who gives you 100 percent and more every time he's on the field."

BLOCK - Labeled as one of the toughest players on the Huron squad, Block saw duty as a defensive halfback and a fullback. In his three years as a varsity performer, Fred has never been stopped on the goalline.

With a total of 60 tackles, 25 of them solos, a fumble recovery and a pass interception, Block also caught the eyes of the conference coaches who named him as an all-league performer.

As a fullback, Fred had 91 chances and picked up 442 yards and scored four touchdowns.

Calling all cagers in Westland

There are two basketball programs designed for youth that the Westland Parks and Recreation Department has on its drawing boards.

The department is forming a youth basketball league for boys and girls, ages 10 to 15. All ages are determined as of December 1.

Team selection will be conducted during the week of Nov. 27 at local junior high sites. League play will begin in January.

Interested players should contact the recreation department at 261-7030, for information regarding times, location and dates.

Westland is also organizing a basketball "Spot Shot" contest, also for boys and girls ages 10 to 15. It will be held at the Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Rd., behind Westland City Hall on Saturday, Dec. 1.

Inkster is favored to win cage playoffs

Sporting a 11-2 record, Inkster High's girls basketball team has established itself as the pre-playoff tournament favorite.

Inkster, which drew a first round bye in the Class B districts to be staged at Dearborn Heights Robichaud beginning Monday, will see action Wed., Nov. 29, taking on the winner of the New Boston Huron and Cherry Hill game.

Huron and Cherry Hill kick off the tournament on Monday at 6 p.m. On Tuesday, Dearborn Divine Child takes on St. Alphonsus at 6 p.m. in the first of two games, then host Robichaud will entertain Melvindale.

The semi-finals also include the Inkster vs. winner of the Huron and Cherry Hill game and the survivors of the D.C.-St. Al's and Robichaud-Melvindale games.

The championship will be decided on Nov. 30 at 7 p.m.

Checkmate

The Wayne Chess Club posted its second consecutive victory of the year as it overpowered Detroit Metropolitan League rival, Pontiac, 4½ to ½.

The local club received victories from David Wolfrim, Ed Verda, Tom James and Dan Hill, who substituted for Larry Wright.

Frank Helle agreed on a draw after allowing a won position slip from his clutches.

Perennial champs lack tall man

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Eric Agardy is gone and so are the Ellinghausens brothers - Jim and Tom.

Agardy, at 6-11, and the Ellinghausens who stood 6-7, helped Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks dominate the Suburban 8 basketball conference for five of the last six years.

But they have joined the ranks of the college teams and Salem now prepares to defend its share of the conference title without a "tall center."

"Compared to what we were in the past, we're small," said Thomann whose 1977-78 team won 20 out of its 23 starts a year ago. "And, because of the absence of a center, we're going to be different."

In what way?

"Well," replied Thomann, "in the past we'd use six or seven players at the most - this year we'll be using a lot more players."

And is this the year that the Suburban 8 (minus Redford Union) gets "even" with Thomann and the Rocks.

"It could be - but I feel we're going to be much quicker than we have been in the past. We have the nucleus of an excellent team."

One reason why Thomann's team should be one to contend with is Rich Hewlett, who recently won all-state honors as a quarterback and who Thomann feels "will be a legitimate candidate for the same honors in basketball."

A 6-1 senior guard, Rich will definitely be the man to bottle up if the opposition is going to sink Salem this year. Joining Hewlett in the backcourt is veteran Matt Etienne, a 5-10 guard, who has been through the conference wars for the past three years.

And, though Ellinghausen is gone, no one will be able to overlook 6-5 Howard Monk and 6-3 Bill Thimm, two players who Thomann is counting heavily upon. Add to these names, Kevin Kelliher, a 6-4 forward, Barry Owens, John Van-Wagoner, Jim Anderson, Paul Dillon and Rob New and no one in his right mind would believe that the Rocks are ready to abdicate their throne without a fight.

Bentley, who snatched a share of the conference gem away from Salem last year has the best shot at taking it all this season, according to Thomann.

"Bentley has its main people back and they will be tough," warned Thomann.

Is there a "cinderella team around?"

"Hey, how about us - won't we do?" answered Thomann.

Thomann will get some of his answers to his question on Tuesday when they travel to Livonia Franklin where sophomore Coach Jim McIntyre and a seasoned team is ready to test the perennial Suburban 8 champs.

League-leading Futurama scores 6th hockey victory

Victimizing Johnson Carbonic 4-1 in last Sunday's encounter, league-leading Futurama Engineering stretched its victory string to six games as the first round of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey season came to an end.

With Tim Vanderburgh in the nets, Futurama has appeared invincible this season as the league-leaders have given up 14 goals in seven games.

Led by Art Cazabon who scored two goals, while Norm Hankala and Perry Toepfer each had one, Futurama had no problems chalking up the victory.

Johnson's averted the shutout thanks to Ron Johnson's second period goal.

Extra Points snapped a three-game losing streak at the expense of Four Seasons 9-5. The barmen established a 5-2 edge in the second period and coasted to the victory behind Larry Kaifesh, Mike Villemure and John Davis' pair of goals. Dan Kubany and Rick Mullen also contributed goals to the winner's cause.

Four Seasons received goals from Bill Creekmore, John Clearwood, Terry Boote, Phil Cerne and Tom Dilaure.

Brock Homes erupted for three goals with less than three minutes to play to break a 3-all tie and win a 6-3 decision over Jack's Sporting Center. Jack's was skating with a man advantage late in the contest when Dave Zajac scored two short-handed goals in a span of 35 seconds to spark the winners. Zajac finished with a hat trick while teammate Chuck Heebst accounted for two goals and Tom Tucker had one.

Chuck Jennett scored two for the losers and John Kunz chalked up the final tally.

Tastee Freez got its second win of the season, a 9-4 triumph over Huron Valley Total.

Huron's goalie was a "no show" and it was forced to skate with six skaters. The oilmen gave Tastee Freez all it could handle and had the score tied at 4-all at the end of the first two periods.

But Tastee erupted for five third period goals to claim the victory. Norm Beasley, Paul Zatyko and Lee Callaway each scored two goals for the winners with Mike Dzurigot, Corky Hays and Tony Spada adding singles. Barry Anderson fired in a couple of goals for Huron Valley to

Cherry Hill golfer 'No. 1' in Tri-River

Kerry Doyle - remember the name. The 16-year-old Cherry Hill golfer is quietly but impressively establishing himself as one of the top prep golfers in the area.

Doyle, who finished the 1978 high school campaign with a 39.3 average (for nine holes), was named the top golfer in the Tri-River Conference, a conference dominated again by Dearborn Heights Crestwood's linksmen.

"He is the finest golfer I have had the privilege of coaching," said Spartan mentor Bill Kelly.

Doyle set a school record of 34 strokes, two under par at Warren Valley, this season.

Doyle, along with teammate Bob Elkins, who maintained a 41.5 average throughout the season, also were named to the all-league team.

Kerry's twin brother, Kevin, and Ben Michno, were awarded honorable mention.

Cherry Hill, with a 7-5 record, finished behind league champ, Crestwood (12-0), Garden City West (9-3) and Riverside (8-4) in the league race. Trailing Cherry Hill were Melvindale (3-9), Southgate (2-10) and Schafer (1-11). Taylor Kennedy didn't field a team this season.

Doyle's achievement helped him earn the Spartans' MVP Award, an award he also claimed a year ago.

Best year for Bulldog runners

Unbeaten in the league and producing their first state qualifier in cross country thanks to junior Bruce Brock, Dearborn Heights Robichaud's fortunes in that sport turn a turn for the good. Coach Jim Hadley and his Bulldogs won the Suburban Athletic Conference title outright and posted a perfect 8-0 season. Featured with the cham-

Chiefs without a center — and that could mean trouble

Third year cage coach Gene Smith has always had a "big man" to handle the pivot spot, but this year the New Boston Huron strategist doesn't have a man to fit the bill.

"This will be my first year that I'm fielding a team without a big man," said Smith whose Chiefs finished with a respectable 15-7 overall record and a 13-6 conference mark. "We lost Mike Knight (6-7) last year to graduation and right now we don't have anyone to fill his shoes."

Smith and the Chiefs also lost high-scoring Gene Reitz, who is playing varsity ball at Grand Valley State, and Steve Gill, a 6-0 forward, to graduation.

That leaves them with two starters off of last year's squad - Randy Pichan, who, at 6-4 1/2 is the tallest member of the club, and Greg Smith, a 5-10 senior guard. Kermit Burke, a 6-3 junior who started off and on a year ago, is also ready for full-time service.

Could Pichan take over the pivot slot?

"I feel that Randy is a power forward and that's where I want to keep him - on the outside," Smith explained. "You know a few years ago when you had a player who was 6-4, he also automatically became your center. Nowadays the kids have to be 6-5 and up."

Despite the over-all lack in height, Smith feels his Chiefs will join the league favorite, Airport, as a contender.

Airport has four of five back from the team that won the championship a year ago.

"I feel we're going to have an exciting team and I'm looking forward to the season," Smith added. "We show excellent attitude but we also have a lot of work ahead of us."

Huron won't unveil its 1978-79 cage model until after Thanksgiving when the Chiefs host Woodhaven for a nonleagueur on Dec. 1.

Huron hosts mat touney

New Boston Huron, one of the state powers in Class B wrestling, will get off the 1978-79 season with a 9-team invitational.

The invitational is scheduled for December 9 with weigh in at 8 a.m., and preliminary competition slated to begin on three mats at 11 a.m.

The consolation finals will be held at 7 p.m., the finals at 8 p.m.

Among the top teams that are invited to the tournament are Romulus, Tecumseh, Southgate Aquinas, Saline, Riverview, Pickney, Dundee and Algonac.

A trophy will be presented to the winning team, while individual awards to be made to the top three finishers in each of the 13 weight classes.

For further information about the tournament, please contact athletic director Hank Smith at 782-1436 or 782-1437.

Discher wins 500-yard freestyle title

Wayne loses swim crown

Though the handwriting was on the wall, Wayne Memorial officially handed over the Great Lakes 8 Conference swim crown to arch-rival, Monroe, which ended the Zebras' three-year domination of the league last Saturday with an impressive victory.

Wayne, beaten earlier in the dual meet season by the reigning champs, needed a miracle to win an unprecedented fourth consecutive conference title, but the miracle just didn't materialize.

Monroe garnered nine out of a possible 11 first places en route to a team point total of 322 to outdistance the three-time defending champ, Wayne, by 56 points. Wayne was a solid second place (266), as Fordson finished third (132), followed by Lincoln Park (188), Wyandotte (111), Riverview (96), and Taylor Truman (83).

Taylor Center, the eighth member of the conference, didn't have a complete team at the championships.

"We knew Monroe had a superior team this season," said Wayne's Jim McPartlin, "and, even though we had outstanding performances from a large portion of our team, Monroe had too many first places for us to overtake them."

One of those outstanding performances was Teri Discher's sterling effort in the 200-yard individual medley. Miss Discher won Wayne's lone gold medal when she turned in a 2:29 flat. The time however was 1.5 seconds off her record pace set earlier in the year.

Wayne swimmers also set a couple of school marks. Getchen Batterson, a junior, touched out older sister, Kelly, by two-tenths of a second in placing second in the 500-yard freestyle. Getchen's 6:06.2 was topped by fast-moving Monroe's Mary Nicely who was clocked in an outstanding time of 5:55.4.

Wayne's 400-yard freestyle relay also was forced to settle for a second place, despite a record-shattering performance by Lacy Lopez, Miss Discher and the Batterson girls - Kelly and Gretchen who combined for a 4:05.2. Monroe's foursome had the winning time of 4:04.9.

The championships marked the end of the 1978 season for all except Natalie Kozorsky who qualified for the state diving championships which will be staged from December 1-2 at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Wayne ended the campaign with a 6-1 league and a 11-1 over-all dual meet record. Monroe is the only team to taint that near-perfect Wayne season.

Miss Kew strikes gold in Northwest

While newcomer-to-the-league, Redford Union, made its debut at the Northwest Suburban Conference swimming and diving championships an auspicious one, Westland Thelma Kew earned a niche at the conference meet with an impressive victory in the 500-yard freestyle.

The 15-year-old Glenn junior held off Garden City East's Donna Burlingame to capture the gold medal with a 1:02.1 performance.

"She did a nice job," said rookie Coach Jim Lawrence, who finished his inaugural season as the Glenn swim mentor with an 8-4 record. Lawrence went on to point out, "that the team championships were extremely close."

"There were 18 points separating the first and third teams," Lawrence said, "and this is the toughest the league has been for some years, and I'm proud at the way our girls swam at the championships and throughout the entire season."

Lawrence also said that a lot of his swimmers will be back next year, "and I'm extremely excited about our prospects in 1979."

One big disappointment for the Rockets was the unexpected setback suffered by Janet Borgerding, a junior, and defending league champ on the one-meter diving boards.

Miss Borgerding overtwisted on a forward somersault, one twist, free position dive and she wound up without a point for that dive.

She dropped from first place to fourth place and eventually surrendered her title to Thurston's Sharon Forrester.

"There is no doubt in my mind that she would have recaptured her title if she had a good dive," commented Lawrence. "She lost to Miss Forrester by 20 points and a good dive would have given Janet more points than that."

Redford Union edged North Farmington by 18 points to replace Glenn as the No. 1 team in the conference. The Redford swimmers were a member of the Suburban 8 Conference last year and this is their first year of competition in the Northwest. Glenn missed being runners-up by one point as North Farmington held a 210-209 edge over the defending champs. Franklin finished fourth (164), followed by Redford Township Thurston (160) and Garden City East (142).

Two horribly annoying reasons to introduce Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline.

A car should be seen and not heard.

That's why we're introducing new Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline with a higher octane level.

Not only does it help knock the knocks and pings out of your engine, it could also give your car more power than most other gasolines. (In fact, millions of cars on the road today are being cheated of peak engine performance.)

And what's more, if your car is properly tuned, and still shakes, sputters and backfires after you turn the key off, using Mobil Super Unleaded may help eliminate all that. And that's whether your car is new or old.

And even if you've been using leaded premium gasoline you'll be glad to know that Mobil Super Unleaded's high octane level is high enough to meet anti-knock requirements of most cars today.

Mobil Super Unleaded. Because when you're driving, one of the nicest sounds in the world is the sound of absolutely nothing.

Cougar JV's are winners

Learning from one's mistakes can help build a winner and that's what Belleville's Cougars did throughout the 1978 campaign in the Western Suburban Junior Football League - learn from their mistakes. Coach Bob Hardin's lineup included: Ronnie Dunn, Charles Brown, Jeff Umin, Andy Winnie, Michael Beckley, Tyrone Thomas, Bryan

Rough road for varsity

Though they traveled over some rough gravel, the Cougar varsity unit managed to stay in most of their games this season. Clay Cameron, who served as both varsity coach and Cougar president, said he was proud of his players. The lineup included: John Dillon, Richie Umin, Tim Winnie, Kirby Wilson, Derrick Smith, Russell Thomas, James Daniels, Eric Ball, Mike Barton, Keith Crawford,

Westland 'Sparks' win home opener

Outmaneuvering Cleveland's Comets, the Westland "Sparks" stretched their winning streak to six games in the Lake Erie Conference of the National Wheelchair Basketball Association.

The Sparks rolled past the Comets 74-32 and, for all purposes, the game was all over at the half when the winners piled up an insurmountable 44-10 margin.

Leon Sturtz and Wyman Davis paced the Sparks with 16 and 14 points respectively while Ted Chatman and Denver Branum also were in double figures. Chatman sank 12 points and Branum counted 10.

It was the home opener for the Sparks who had a host of dignitaries including Mayor Thomas Taylor, council-president Robert Wagner, councilman Thomas Artly, and Judge Evan Callahan on hand to view the action.

In a Sunday afternoon rematch, of sorts, the Sparks again overpowered their rivals from Cleveland, 81-48, after leading at intermission 45-20.

Chatman led all scorers with 16 points and Davis chipped in with 12. Wayne was well represented on the Westland squad as player-coach Bud Rumble poured in 14 points. Branum and Leon Sturtz accounted for 12 and 10 points.

Dane Shank sank 18 points from the losers.

The Sparks will make their next home appearance on Saturday when the host a strong Toronto Thunderbolts at 8 p.m. They'll play the same team on Sunday at 1 p.m.

All home games are played at the Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road in Westland. All admission is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for senior citizens and students. Persons in wheelchairs are admitted for free.

Ocelot soccer team seeks national title

Schoolcraft College, surprise representatives of a seven-state midwest region, goes after its first national community college soccer championship during Thanksgiving week at Miami, Florida.

The Ocelots will play Essex Community College of Baltimore, the nation's third ranked team, in the opening round of the double-elimination tournament on Wednesday.

Although unranked, Coach Larry Christoff's squad carries a 9-2 season's record into the tourney and are not to be taken lightly. They upset Macomb Community College 2-1 in the Inter-regional final at Triton, Illinois on Nov. 10 to earn a spot at Miami.

Schoolcraft's 17-man squad leaves Metro airport for the flight south on Tuesday morning. Their last trip to the nationals was in 1968 when they finished fourth.

This year's squad has out-scored opponents 34-10, led by Steve Paul's 13 goals. He is a sophomore forward from Northville.

Jon Licata of Windsor has been outstanding in goal. Opposing teams have managed just one score against the Ocelots in their last three games.

Christoff, in his fourth year of coaching soccer at the College, is a social studies teacher at Stevenson High in Livonia.

Other opening-round matches pit defending champion and top-ranked Ulster CC of New York against Mercer CC of Trenton, N.J.; number two Miami Dade South CC against Flourissant Valley CC of St. Louis, and number four Morrisville CC of New York against Massasoit CC of Brockton, Mass.

Matches will be played Nov. 22-23, and the championship game at 11 on Saturday, morning, Nov. 25. The Schoolcraft squad is scheduled to return to Metro that evening, hopefully with its first national title in tow.

Frigards have Colorado, Maryland guests

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING

Mrs. Dorothy Kellas of Margery Street attended the November meeting of the Strand-weeks club on Sunday, Nov. 12, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hietala of Detroit.

Mrs. Audrey McKee, formerly of Chelsea recently moved to a home on Edison Street in Belleville.

Word has been received here that Mrs. Wayne (Donette) Miller of Quirk Road, who underwent major surgery at Crittenden Hospital in Rochester, is much improved and may be home soon.

In celebration of her birthday Wednesday, Nov. 15, Mrs. Henry Sager of West Columbia Avenue was a guest of a group of several friends at dinner at the Hillside in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson of Elwell Road were callers last Tuesday on the latter's Aunts, Mrs. Dale Starkey of Napoleon, Ohio, and Mrs. William Brodbeck of Archbold, Ohio, who is convalescing at her home following surgery. On Wednesday they were callers on the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Vedder of Saline.

A slight boo-boo (pulled by this paper) at the end of last week's column had the Jess Littles of Romulus celebrating their 13th wedding anniversary when, in actuality, it should have been 17 years longer — 30 years. We regret the error.

Acrylic painting stars at home Arts

Fifteen members and one guest, Pat Tator, were present for the November meeting of the Home Arts Club held in the home economics room at North Junior High School. President Betty Gott conducted the business meeting and collected the recipes which had been used at the October smorgasbord. They will be typed, copied and distributed to the membership at the next meeting.

Mary Kosin, program chairman, had recipes of the homemade wine used at last month's meeting for all present.

She later announced the traditional Christmas party (for members only) would be held Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Betty Gott on Belleville Road. Those attending are to bring a handmade or homemade gift to exchange. They are also asked to please form car pools since parking is limited at the hostess' home. The executive board will be in charge of the party.

Guest speaker for the evening was Holleen Fisk who explained and demonstrated the proper use of Artex Products which are acrylic paints in special writing tubes. Much like a pencil, they can be used on all materials including fabrics, wood and soap and can result in decorative Christmas ornaments, tablecloths, wall hangings, books, pictures and clothing. The technique itself is easy enough for a young child to do, she explained. The paints are fully washable and come in many colors, as well as in frosts and fluorescent shades. Mrs. Fisk also displayed many of the articles she had made.

Following the demonstration the group was invited to try the craft for themselves.

Using an autumn theme for their table appointments, Mary Kosin, Frances Jobe, Charlotte Price and Bev Sparrow provided refreshments at the close of the evening.

Wheat germ breads have fruit flavors

We like to think of these recipes as mother nature's very own quick breads. One is wheat germ avocado loaf, the other a wheat germ honey apple bread. Both are made with vacuum packed wheat germ, milk, eggs, other wholesome ingredients ... and of course, fresh avocado for one and fresh apple for the other. No wonder they're so moist and good tasting. Wheat germ's nutty flavor comes through to give the breads a hearty character, too. The avocado recipe makes one good sized loaf while the apple recipe makes two smaller loafs. They're so easy to make and can be stirred up in a jiffy. At breakfast, coffee time or snack time, the breads are delicious on their own or buttered. Team them with soup or salad to make a satisfying lunch or supper. Slice and toast them for breakfast. Keep the wheat germ loaves wrapped for maximum freshness.

Thinking in terms of eating a well balanced diet includes all the things you eat during the day ... snacks and "extras" as well as meals. That's why getting in the wheat germ habit is such a smart idea. Kretschmer wheat germ is one of the world's most nutritious natural foods. This beautiful all purpose food is one to eat anytime. It's delicious and satisfying as a breakfast cereal. As a versatile cooking ingredient, wheat germ benefits all kinds of baking goods as well as main dishes, casseroles and salads. Using wheat germ everyday helps balance the diet for so little effort.

Wheat germ both regular and sugar & honey comes vacuum packed in screw top jars to preserve its goodness and freshness. After opening wheat germ can be kept fresh in the refrigerator.

Wheat Germ Avocado Bread

1 egg
½ cup mashed ripe avocado (1 medium)
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons cooking oil
2 cups flour
¾ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated orange-peel
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular
½ cup finely chopped pecans

Beat egg with avocado, milk and oil until smooth. All at once add flour mixed with sugar, baking powder, salt, orange peel, cinnamon and wheat germ. Mix until ingredients are moistened. Spread batter in greased 8½ x 4½ x 2½-inch loaf pan. Bake in 350 degrees oven 55 to 60 minutes or until a pick inserted into center comes out clean. (If using glass pan, bake in 325 degrees oven). Cool in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto rack to cool. For easier slicing wrap in foil or plastic wrap and store overnight. Makes 1 loaf.

Wheat Germ Honey Apple Bread

½ cup sugar
¼ cup cooking oil
¼ cup honey
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ cup milk
1 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular
1½ cups shredded, pared apples (2 to 3)

Beat together sugar, oil, honey and eggs. Combine flour, soda, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Add to egg mixture alternately with milk. Stir in wheat germ and apples. Spread batter in 2 greased 7½ x 3½ x 2¼-inch loaf pans. Bake in 350 degrees oven 45 to 50 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 to 10 minutes. Turn out onto rack to cool. Wrap in foil or plastic wrap. Bread slices more easily and flavor improves after storing overnight. Makes 2 loaves.

Or 1 (9 x 5 x 3-inch) loaf pan. Bake 60 to 65 minutes.

ADK has new member

At their November meeting, members of Alpha Delta Kappa (ADK), national women educator's sorority, held an initiation ceremony and installed Robert Earl (right) as a new member of the organization. On hand to welcome her were the current executive board: Frances Stapleton, vice-president (from left); Leona Kozma, chaplain; Marian Batzer, president; Carrietta Preuninger, treasurer, who also sponsored the newcomer and was co-hostess for the meeting; and Dorrothy Arthur, recording secretary.

Initiation ceremony welcomes newcomer

The Gamma Gamma Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa (ADK), national women educator's sorority, held its November meeting at the home of Judy Enesey who shared the hostess detail with Carrietta Preuninger. Highlight of the afternoon was the initiation ceremony welcoming Roberta Earl, a teacher at Tyler Elementary School, into the organization. Her sponsor was Mrs. Preuninger, the club treasurer.

The centerpiece at the ceremony, displaying the sorority colors, was a cornucopia filled with yellow daisies and olive green velvet ribbon.

At the business meeting which followed, the group discussed the Christmas wreath workshop which will be held at Savage Elementary School in December. The wreaths will be sold and the profits used to help support the group's goal of sponsoring a pilot program for the Van Buren Public Schools.

Patty Pyshnik explained plans to purchase a blood pressure program kit and the workshops for teachers who will, in turn, teach their classroom children how to take and read blood pressure equipment. At the close of the meeting the group enjoyed refreshments, tea and coffee.

Van Buren Garden Club meets, enjoys improvised interesting program

A sudden change in plans found the Van Buren Garden Club meeting at the home of Mrs. W.E. Gault, on Tuesday, Nov. 14. A planned lesson in the art of macrame to be taught in Birmingham was cancelled due to the illness of the instructor. A new program was hastily improvised.

Mrs. Frank Prais gave a brief resume of natural materials that could be used or planted in gardens to help control pests. A few examples included a half bar of Fels Naptha soap dissolved into a half gallon of water as an effective spray for aphids or spider mites. One part molasses to 50 parts water is useful against worms and soft insects. Cigar or cigarette butts soaked in water until tea-colored is to be used on house plants. It was suggested that non-smokers could raid car ash trays!

Dill planted between tomatoes will draw horn worms away from tomatoes. Nasturtiums will repel cabbage worms, squash bugs and cucumber beetles. Tomato leaves mixed with water and a small amount of corn starch in your blender, strained, and used once a week will prevent black spot on roses.

And finally (if you can bring yourself to do it) a half-cup of troublesome insects and two cups of water in your blender is an effective spray — the excess can be stored in your freezer.

Mrs. Joseph Horste read an original manuscript concerning Mrs. Erna Nixon and the Erna Nixon Hammock of Melbourne Village, Fla. "A hammock," Mrs. Horste explained, "is a variant of a hummock, a low mound or ridge of earth, a knoll, or a tract of forested land above the level of an adjacent marsh." Such is the tract of land set aside and named in honor of Mrs. Nixon, who worked diligently to have this unusual bit of nature preserved.

Born in Wisconsin, Mrs. Nixon is a former concert pianist and organist and widely traveled. She was proud of the years she had spent teaching in the Chicago High School system and fondly hoped she had inspired many students to a love of nature, appreciation of plants and trees and a respect for animals, reptiles, birds and earth as she has herself.

It is her dream that the hammock and its surrounding 20 acres will be held forever in its natural state — nothing to be disturbed or removed even the patches of poison ivy. At the higher edge of the hammock are the hardwoods such as Laurel, Oak and Pine Oak, Sabal and Cabbage Palms (from which the hearts of palm salads are made). Shade is necessary for some plants. The Boston Fern grows here and Mrs. Nixon told how dots on the underleaf produce new plants, which are then fertilized by the rains. Hand ferns are rare, but a few are found in the hammock. Resurrection ferns lying dried and curled are brought to life and spread open in the rains. A Camphor Tree is nearby, its presence unexplained. The peculiar skunk-like order is from the Stopper Tree, more properly named the Eugenia.

Mrs. Nixon, who often acts as a guide for tours of the hammock, is a bright-eyed, eager and interesting lady of 86 years and is much beloved by the people of Melbourne Village. Mrs. Horste's script acquainted her with all the club members and they too appreciate her efforts in preserving this lovely spot for future generations.

by Doug Brown

A good "music trivia" question might be, "Do you know who was the first musician to use the thumb in playing the organ?" The answer is Johann Sebastian Bach. Johann was truly one of the great masters of music. He was the son of a violin maker. Unfortunately, he was orphaned when he was 10 years old. While living with relatives, he became interested in the organ, was basically self-taught, and also cultivated an interest in writing music. In fact, he played and composed so well that he became the world's greatest composer of organ music. Bach was also a very religious man who had a deep love for children, fathering twenty one.

If you have a child interested in music cultivate that interest by renting an instrument from DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484. If your child really takes to the instrument and you decide to purchase it the rental fee will be applied toward the purchase price. We are conveniently located so stop by soon and browse around. Master Charge and Visa honored.

Seafood myths dispelled

A variety of myths, misconceptions and old wives tales concerning seafoods has passed from generation to generation throughout history. Some of these beliefs are based in part on fact, but others have no logical basis.

"Shellfish should be eaten only during months with an 'r' in them."

This saying originated in Europe and was based on factors connected with the reproductive events of European oysters. The oysters in Europe brood their young and are unpleasant to eat from May to August because of the crunchiness of the baby oysters' shells in the brood chamber. In addition, the spawned-out European oysters of this period are generally less plump and tasty. Oysters in this country do not brood their young and are good to eat throughout the year.

Many people think the saying means that shellfish are always safe to gather and eat during the months with an 'r' in them, but shellfish containing paralytic shellfish poison can occasionally be found during the 'r' months of September and October.

Commercially harvested oysters, clams and mussels are available in retail stores and restaurants throughout the year. These shellfish are raised and harvested under federal and state regulations designed to ensure that only safe, non-toxic shellfish are available to consumers.

"Fish is brain food." The idea that eating fish enhances your brain dates back to the 19th century and a Harvard University scientist. He discovered that compounds containing phosphorus are abundant in the brain, and he urged people to eat fish which is rich in phosphorus. The scientist reasoned that foods high in phosphorus would increase the amount of phosphorus in the brain, and thus increase brainpower. Although phosphorus is an important nutrient, the concept that phosphorus will improve IQ has long since been disproven.

Seafood myths are abundant and for the most part, harmless.

But, when a myth dictates a certain time or way of preparing some mystical fish dish, it is best to do a little research. Accurate information will help you determine whether the belief should be treated as fact or just another old wives' tale.

This information supplied by your Michigan SeaGrant program, part of the Cooperative Extension Service.

(this is being written "last Wednesday") I am still fuming about the manner in which my groceries were bagged. I can hardly believe that any THINKING individual (and therein lies the tale?) would place whipped topping, cheese and milk in the same package with laundry soap; or those scented fabric softening sheets (strongly scented to boot) in with ice cream.

I was doubly upset since I'd placed all my frozen and refrigerated items together — convenient for packing — and had told the clerk how I wanted them bagged. Because I was busy writing a check and not paying attention, the above-gripped-about procedure (mish mash) was followed. Can you believe it?

I can never quite fathom such indifference (or was she off to planet X mentally? Do you, too, get the same kind of looks I get when you request they NOT pack the bags too heavily? "Please divide up the canned goods; I can't lift them into the trunk of the car" is a request-statement that comes across like ice-on-ice.

Shopping for groceries is probably the household task I most abhor (it even beats cleaning the oven.)

Someone should tell Dick Vitale that BIG children, too, should be seen and not heard! And for the "should be heard and not seen department" our candidates are the Carpenters who, despite their pleasant singing voices, have never developed any stage presence, even after all these years. (And J.P., why don't you stick to radio?)

While on the subject of celebs, do you get that eerie feeling whenever you see Anthony Perkins perform (?) that he's still playing his role in "Psycho"? I almost feared for Mary Tyler Moore's life as he played her husband in their recent TV special.

And David Jansen forever seems as if he's still in "Run for Your Life" — that same, deadpan, it'd-break-your-face-to-smile ploddiness. And I am NOT judging from his recent part in "The Word" since I didn't tune in to it. I just get the impression that these fellas (and gals) getting the star billing are really not much in the acting department when they merely do re-runs role-after-role.

And how did they EVER make it, she asks? — Bernadette Peters... Linda Lavin... Margot Hemingway... Angie Dickinson (watch the fellas scream at THIS one)... Sylvester Stallone (now listen to the gals' outcry...)

Received a very nice note and interesting recipe from one of Belleville's most gracious ladies who, unfortunately, wishes to remain anonymous. Her message reads:

Dear Lee,

When I was in the office a few days ago, it reminded me that I had been putting off sending a recipe to you that you might like to use in your column.

For one who never likes cake, I find this one exceptionally good; better if made the day before. On weekends when there are quite a few around it is a real stand-by. However, it vanishes quickly unless well hidden. It keeps very well.

MEXICAN WEDDING CAKE

2 cups sugar
2 tsp. baking soda
Stir in 1 cup broken nuts.

Beat 2 eggs, blend with one 20-oz. can crushed pineapple. Stir in flour. Place in greased 9x13 pan. Bake at 350 degrees until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

1 s tsp. vanilla.
Beat well and spread on cake.

THE BOTTOM LINE: No bits of wit or humor this week; merely the sincere wish that all our readers enjoy and appreciate the sharing, bounty, blessings and togetherness that Thanksgiving Day always seem to bring.

When this reporter makes a mistake she's the first to admit it but when the fault lies elsewhere, she'd like to try and explain a few things. Since it's not possible to run a whole new story (it was some 14 inches) the next best thing to offer is an explanation via "potpourri".

When I received a call from Tom Wilson last Thursday saying he was disappointed that I'd missed the whole gist of his wife, Diane's, honor as Woman of the Year, I had no idea what he meant. It was all pretty clear, though, in a few minutes.

Diane had not been named Junior Study Club "Woman of the Year", she had received the accolade from the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs. The local group had merely nominated Diane as a candidate and she had won (we're prone to believe with hands down) the STATE award.

From the information we received there was absolutely no indication that it was anything but locally oriented and we've checked and re-checked our notes. They merely said "club woman of the year."

We DO want our readers to know, though, that Belleville's own Diane Wilson DID, in fact, win her title at the state level. Congratulations! (And thanks, Tom, for not coming on strong or accusingly. Lots of people do!)

If you're among the many who really "dig" hand-crafted works of art, you just might want to make a note on your calendar for either this Friday or Saturday. Those are the days for the Christmas Craft Show planned by Jan Ross and several of her equally enthusiastic artisan friends.

Jan (who takes every craft class she hears about) will co-host the proceedings at her home on Rawsonville Road from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each of the two days.

An ingenious gal, who's utilizing her talents to the fullest (she's up to her eyelashes in dried flowers) she and her friends will share their many finished products with the general public.

Everything imaginable for holiday decorating and gift-giving will be featured such as strawflower arrangements (for the wall, table, knick-knack shelf); Tole painted and fabric painted beauties, stuffed toys, macrame, fancywork, you name it.

Each object in the show is handmade and priced to fit your tightly-squeezed holiday pocketbook. The Ross residence at 9111 Rawsonville is just a wee bit south of Willis Road.

See you there!

Harry Kemelman is the author responsible for the series of books centering on a small-town rabbi, David Small, who oversees a rather dissident and unappreciative congregation at Barnard's Crossing in New England. Having flipped the last page on another of his novels, "Monday the Rabbi Took Off", I'd like to share a line from the book — a statement made by the Rabbi — one we can all pay heed to.

"The ability to express gratitude is one of the ways in which man differs from the lower animals, and it's good to manifest the difference occasionally."

Kemelman's books are the kind you need to tuck, in among the deeper stuff periodically. Although light reading and with a tinge of the who-dun-it to them, they also provide interesting bits on Judaism and its traditions.

Moliere's comic masterpiece

Theatre stages 'Imag

The last of Moliere's 27 plays, "The Imaginary Invalid," will be presented by the University of Detroit's The Theatre Dec 7-10 and 14-17.

A comic masterpiece, "The Imaginary Invalid" is significantly concerned with a man who believes he is dying for Moliere was ill at the time he was writing the play.

Moliere acted in the lead role of the original production and during the fourth show, the playwright-actor was seized with a convulsion while doing the final scene of the play and died a few hours later.

The Theatre's production of "The Imaginary Invalid" will, in part, recreate the style and attitude of the play's original production, without the death of the lead actor.

David Regal, chairman of the theatre department, will play the central role of Argan, a hypochondriac who enjoys letting quack doctors punish his body and his pocketbook.

Prevelant on the Detroit acting scene, Regal can be remembered for his recent performance as Father Rivald in "The Runner Stumbles", Stanley in "A Streetcar Named Desire" and R.P. McMurphy in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest". His current role is the first period comedic character that Regal has played in several years.

There will be a special benefit performance for Muscular Dystrophy on Dec. 17 at 2 p.m. Admission donation will be $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12 years. All proceeds will be given to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The Theatre, residing within the administrative jurisdiction of the University of Detroit, is an undergraduate professional training program for performers, designers and technicians, geared toward professional excellence.

A two-time national winner of the American College Theatre Festival, The Theatre is "an alternative" theatre, according to Regal.

"Our emphasis is twofold," he explained. "We produce current and original work, such as 'The Runner Stumbles' in 1977 and 'Moonchildren' in this season. We also place a great deal of importance on serving the literary classics, like Kafka and Brecht. "These plays do not have the commercial clout of easily recognizable plays, but we believe the benefits

Further, the intent is to permit larger-scale trucking operations involving interstate and intrastate motor carriers whose activities are incompatible with the great majority of other land uses and are most suitably placed in strategic locations, close to complementary uses and other complementary uses and other truck terminals, and locations which are efficiently coordinated with the City's planned street and thoroughfare system.

6. Lighting shall be installed and shielded in a manner which shall not create a driving hazard on adjacent streets or which will cause direct illumination on adjacent property.

7. The site shall be designed so that all vehicles can move in a forward manner upon entering and leaving the site, to eliminate the necessity of backing up to enter or exit the site.

8. A plan for permanent maintenance of all required berms, plantings, lawns and landscaping shall be submitted.

PROPOSED ZONING

'Tis the season Michigan shines for holidays

'Tis the season... and Michigan is ready with a month of happy holidaying things to do, according to the Michigan Travel Bureau's Calendar of Travel Events.

You can even put a little fun in your Christmas shopping and discover special treasures made with "tender loving care" at the Christmas Craft Bazaar Dec. 1 at Alma, Christmas Craft and Hobby Show Dec. 1-2 at Grand Haven, Holly Berry Fair Dec. 2 at Caseville and the Christmas Craft Show Dec. 9-17 at the Artillery Armory in Oak Park.

Get a glimpse of "Christmas Around The World" depicted by two delightful displays at Menominee (Dec. 1-3) and Grand Haven (Dec. 7-30). Christmas trees decorated in keeping with the customs of various countries will be exhibited in the Community Center at Grand Haven and in the County Museum in Menominee. Music, dancing and gifts for sale will be added attractions at Menominee.

The Christmas Walk at Meadowbrook Hall is a stroll through a floral wonderland created by area florists. The stately, 100-room mansion is located on the Oakland University campus at Rochester and the Walk continues through Dec. 3. There is an admission charge.

Christmas in Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum begins Dec. 2 and continues through Dec. 31. Village buildings are decorated in character with their period in American history, yuletide music and enticing aromas of holiday cookery fill the air.

Another chapter of the way it was at Christmas comes to life during Christmas in the Deano Homestead, Nature Center at Kalamazoo, Dec. 10 and 17. Living history demonstrations related to our pioneers Christmas activities will highlight the event.

Take a different, somewhat awe inspiring look at Christmas, weekends through Dec. 24 at Abrams Planetarium in East Lansing. The "Star of Wonder" presentation is a traditional favorite concerning the astronomical possibilities of that guiding star of long ago.

Sugar plums and elves, toy shops and candy canes are only a small sampling of what's in store for children of all ages who visit magical "Fantasyland" Dec. 1-24 at Kennedy Memorial Center in Lincoln Park. More enchantment prevails Dec. 9-21 at the Christmas Carnival at Cobo Hall in Detroit. A giant 6-foot Santa in a wooden airplane surrounded by parachuting elves will be the featured attraction at this year's carnival along with perennial favorites such as the giant snowball throw and Santa's castle.

Holiday offerings, on stage, include popular and seasonal favorites. "The Nutcracker Suite" ballet will be presented at Bush Theatre of Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant Dec. 4-5, at the Music Hall in Detroit Dec. 10 and in Miller Auditorium in Kalamazoo Dec. 16. "Amahl and the Night Visitors" visit Miller Auditorium in Kalamazoo Dec. 5 and "Scrooge", a musical adaptation of Dickens "A Christmas Carol", will be the family theatre presentation at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn Dec. 9, 16, 26-31. At Port Huron, the Peanut Butter Players will take you down the yellow brick road to the "Wizard of Oz" Dec. 9-10 and 14-15.

Poetry in motion is an apt description of the terpsichorean interpretations of the Martha Graham Dance Company, gracing the stage of the Music Hall in Detroit Dec. 1-3. Choreography in another form comes to the Lansing Civic Center Dec. 1-3, with the 1979 edition of "Holiday On Ice".

That Christmas feeling is evident in a variety of other events and activities scheduled for December. To mention just a few: the Grand Ledge Holiday Home Tour Dec. 2, Old Fashioned Christmas Parade in Rochester Dec. 3, Christmas Flower Show at Belle Isle in Detroit Dec. 11 and Noel Night at the Cultural Center in Detroit Dec. 13.

Snow oriented activities include Sled Dog Races, Atlantic Mine, Dec. 30-31; Wendell Trepp Memorial Ski Races, Pine Mountain, Iron Mountain, Dec. 16-17; 150 Snowmobile Race, Gladwin, Dec. 29-31; and the Mardi Gras Winter Festival, Harrison, Dec. 26-31; and the Mardi Gras Winter Festival, Harrison, Dec. 26-31.

For a complete list of December's happy holidays in Michigan, write for a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events, Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Box 30226, Lansing, 48909.

'Oh, dear!'

Mary Ottman and John Morgan Lund as Lucinde, a mock-patient being treated by Sganarelle, a mock-doctor, appear in the Hilberry Theatre's current production of "The Doctor in Spite of Himself". The play opened last week in will continue in the theatre's repertory through January.

The Hilberry Theatre is located on the campus of Wayne State University in Detroit. Ticket and schedule information is available from the Hilberry box office at 577-2972.

Modern dance's 'grande dame' set to star at MH

Led by the "grande dame" of modern dance, the Martha Graham Dance Company will present the finest in contemporary movement at Detroit's Music Hall Center on Nov. 29 through Dec. 3.

Martha Graham, pioneer and innovator of modern dance, makes a special guest appearance on Nov. 29 only. This is a rare opportunity to see the woman who had made the single most significant contribution to dance in this century. She has influenced the world not only in her original concepts of movement and her method of training, but also through her monumental works.

Early in her career, Martha Graham created a system of movement that would allow the body freedom of interpretation. The technique used plain costumes, bare feet, sharp body angles and irregular phrasing. Her style evolved into a dramatic and theatrical form of expression, producing what the New York Times called "shattering theatre."

Among her many honors, Martha Graham has received the Aspen Award in Humanities and the Dancemagazine Award. She was the first dancer recognized by the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and was the first dance choreographer to receive the Medal of Freedom presented by President Gerald Ford in 1976.

In addition to her dance credits, Martha Graham revolutionized lighting, costuming and stage design. She created more than 150 works and trained and inspired three generations of modern dancers.

Martha Graham's choreography is as versatile as it is unique. In its Detroit program, the Martha Graham Dance Company brings to life the joys and responsibilities of the American pioneer in Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring;" the dancers explore the many facets of love in "O Thou Desire Who Art About To Sing;" "Errand Into The Maze" portrays the troubled emotions of a young woman; and the dancers in "Seraphic Dialogue" dramatize the spiritual and emotional character of Joan of Arc.

Each of the 21 members of the Martha Graham Dance Company has an extensive background in dance, and each is as highly skilled in the theatrics as in dance technique.

Tickets for their Music Hall performance are available at the box office at 350 Madison Avenue or by calling 963-7680 between 10:00 a.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Group rates are available from Joan Heidt, 963-7622.
